Indians Aid Burke Plane Party Searchers

Story of Finding of Abandoned Burke Plane By Wasson and Walsh Comes Out

Pilot and Musher, Directed By Indians, Hope to Find Three Men

Whitehorse, Y.T., Nov. 27.—Dramatic details of the discovery of Capt. E. J. A. Burke's abandoned plane near the headwaters of the Liard River were related by Pilot E. L. Wasson and Joe Walsh, his observer, on their return here last Monday from a three-day search flight during which they spent two nights camped on the ice of northern lakes.

(Dispatches from the north have been interrupted most of this week because the telegraph wires were down.)

"We left here Friday morning, November 21, for Liard Post to pick up information of the direction in which the Burke plane was flying when last seen," Wasson said.

"Owing to a snowstorm we were obliged to land on a small lake forty miles from Liard Post and when we attempted to take off Saturday morning we found the lake was too small."

"We got a number of Indians to swamp out 300 feet of standing timber so we would have elbow room to rise off the lake and then got away on Burke's trail as reported by the Indians."

"We ran into another snowstorm and could not land on the river, so we hit over the Pelly Mountains and landed on a small lake. We stopped overnight there and again had difficulty getting into the air Monday morning."

"However, we did get off and returned to Liard River, where we located a camp of Indians who confirmed previous reports the Burke plane was heading up the Liard River valley. It was flying low."

"We felt sure we were on the right track and continued up stream until we found another Indian camp. The two women who were the sole occupants of the camp, took flight at our arrival and disappeared into the woods."

"We continued up the river and when about forty miles north of the last Indian camp spotted the Burke plane's plane frozen in the ice of the river."

AUTO TRAGEDY INQUEST SET FOR FRIDAY

The inquest over the bodies of William Lidstone and Mrs. Elizabeth Laylander, killed in an automobile accident on the Sooke Highway early this month, will be resumed at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel to-morrow morning.

Although it is understood the evidence of Miss Jean Bruce, a passenger in the wrecked car, will not be available, witnesses will be heard.

Hearing of the manslaughter charge against Frank Lidstone, alleged driver of the car, in Provincial Police Court, was again postponed this afternoon, pending the result of the inquest.

CANADIAN ANIMALS LINE UP AT CHICAGO LIVESTOCK SHOW

Chicago, Nov. 27.—The finest specimens from the flocks and herds of three of Canada's agricultural provinces were led from their cars through the great Union Stockyards here to-day to await in their stalls and pens the battle between Canada and the United States for the agricultural supremacy of the continent that will begin with the thirty-first International Livestock Exposition opens Saturday.

Cattlemen from Ontario and Alberta, Ontario sheep raisers and horse-breeders of Saskatchewan, gathered before the great open fire in the venerable Stock Yards Inn, weighed the chances of duplicating or exceeding the victories which their animals brought to Canada at last year's show.

Twenty-five Canadian exhibitors are showing 279 animals of thirteen breeds in the livestock section of the show, where judging will start on Monday. In the hay and grain division, with judging opening Saturday, Canada will be an even more dangerous competitor to farmers of the United States.

As is usual, the sheep division finds the largest number of Canadian entries. Seven breeds are represented, with 138 breeding animals and sixty-one fat animals competing.

In the three cattle breeds, Canadians have three entries, and in the three breeds of horses there are eighteen Canadian animals challenging for the blue ribbons which denote supremacy.

Of the cattle division, the champion is a three-year-old, registered as a member of the Legislative Assembly since 1928. He formerly was Mayor of St. Germaine.

The other new legislative councillor, Hon. Alfred Valet, was elected to the Legislative Assembly in 1928 and has been a member of the House of Commons since 1925 and 1927.

PLANE TO BE CHOPPED OUT OF ICE ON NORTHERN B.C. LAKE

Casualty of the Burke plane party search, the Fleetster monoplane pictured above, which was seen by many Victorians on its visit here a couple of months ago, to-day lies in the ice of Sawmill Lake. It broke through the ice yesterday after a flight from Telegraph Creek, B.C., one mile away. Pilot W. J. Burrows having a narrow escape, the plane was taken out of the ice after the next freeze-up and reconditioned. The machine attracted much attention during its visit to Victoria recently. It cruises at 180 miles an hour, and has a top speed considerably greater than that. Skis were fitted in the place of the wheels for the northern flight.

VIEWS CLASH AT GENEVA ON DISARMAMENT

Viscount Cecil Raps Count von Bernstorff's Statement Conference Is Failing

German Delegate Complains Limitation of Land War Materials Is Lagging

Geneva, Nov. 27.—Titans of the Preparatory Disarmament Conference here exchanged rhetorical blows to-day in a heated debate over relative obligations of the victors and the vanquished in the Great War, with Viscount Cecil of Great Britain and Count von Bernstorff in the thick of the fighting.

The conflict centered about the new French thesis that the victors have the option of reducing armaments or leaving the situation as it is.

Von Bernstorff, primed for the struggle, said he would feel justified in voting against the whole tentative convention draft if it contained such a proposal, and the British delegate unexpectedly charged that Germany's delegate was obstructing the whole conference.

Masagili of France, who had been expected to take a leading part in the discussion, merely stated his country's position and sat back while Von Bernstorff and Lord Cecil fought it out.

EXISTING TREATIES

The Franco-British proposal as it was offered formally read:

"The present convention shall not in any way diminish the obligations of previous treaties under which certain of the high contracting parties agreed to limit their military, naval armaments, and thus fixed in relation to one another their respective rights and obligations in the event of a future war."

The German heard it read, announced his opposition and declared the convention an abject failure.

SAANICH CHOIRS TO COMPETE IN MUSIC FESTIVAL

Saanich school choirs will be permitted to practice with a view to competing in the 1931 Victoria Musical Festival, and teachers will be given permission to use their discretion as to entry of school or class choirs.

The school board yesterday evening ruled that the policy of separate Saanich inter-school competitions, in effect this year, would be discontinued next year, unless reversed by the incoming school board.

BY-ELECTION IN JANUARY

To Fill Prince George Seat in B.C. Legislature Caused By Burden's Resignation

Conservative Nominating Convention Will Be Held December 17

A date between January 8 and January 15 will be set for the by-election in Prince George according to information received to-day. Announcement of a definite date between those times is expected to be made within the next few days.

The contest is made necessary by the resignation of H. P. Burden as Minister of Lands to become Agent General for British Columbia in London. December 17 has been set as the date for the Conservative nominating convention and Premier Tolmie, who will leave Friday for the Conservative convention to be held at Penikese, will probably pay a visit to Prince George before returning from the mainland.

Dispatches from Prince George indicate that Conservative expert opposition to their candidate but in the absence of T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Liberal Party in B.C., it was impossible to secure information on this point this morning. No date had been set for the Liberal's nominating convention, party officials stated, but declined to comment on whether a candidate would be named.

FOG DELAYS FLIGHT

HELVANA, Nov. 27.—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller was held here this morning awaiting weather reports before attempting a flight to Miami, Washington and Pittsburgh. Her plane is not equipped with instruments for blind flying, and she hesitated to leave in the face of reported fogs between here and Florida.

McNeill Saved Ship's Crew, But Lost Bank Notes

New York, Nov. 27.—It is a sad world for Sandy McNeill, skipper of the liner Mauretania. In fact what he did, he says, was a terrible thing for a Scotsman. Ashore, the hero of the rescue of the crew of the Swedish freighter Ovid, at sea stuffed into a pocket a lot of gift newspaper clippings describing the feat. Aboard ship he found so many more clippings that he tore up those in his pocket into small pieces and threw them away.

They were conferring regarding the mutual problems of the two governments.

Tewfik's visit is arousing considerable comment, coming as it does on the heels of the meeting at Milan of Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar of Foreign Affairs, and Grandi.

INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE

London, Nov. 27.—Negotiations aimed at securing withdrawal of the candidature of Prince Irwin in the by-election in East Renfrew having failed Irwin's headquarters have announced he will go to the polls to-morrow as the nominee of the Independent Unionist Party and without official blessing.

CIRCUS WILD BEASTS ROAM AS MEN DIE

Animals Break Out of Burning Train in Mexico; Score of Workers Killed

Elephants at Large; Men Hunt Lions and Tigers in Mountains

Mexico City, Nov. 27.—Lions, bears, tigers and elephants, wild in a newly found freedom from circus cages and corals, roamed the Guanajuato mountains to-day as chaos and hundreds of men banded to track them down and either kill or return them to captivity.

At Irapuato, eighteen members of the Beas Circus, one of the largest in Mexico, lay in hospital beds, badly burned in a fire which swept their train early yesterday, killing from fifteen to twenty of their associates and looting the menagerie. Many of the injured were not expected to live.

The fire occurred at Guadalupe station, near Irapuato, where the circus train was being switched. Some of the coaches were backed into tank cars filled with gasoline. The fluid, sprayed on the wooden coaches, caught fire and in a few minutes the entire train was in flames.

Circus performers and employees clad in night clothing escaped from the coaches as best they could, only to meet a new peril, the maddened animals which were breaking loose from their cages as the fire burned the cars about them.

Some of the bodies of the circus performers were burned past recognition.

BODIES RECOVERED

The passenger train from Mexico City arrived at Guadalupe ten hours late to-day because of delay at the scene of the circus train blaze.

Passengers aboard the train said they had seen the charred remains of bodies of twelve persons removed from the debris of the train. Others were believed dead.

TURK LEADER CONFERS WITH GRANDI IN ROME

Rome, Nov. 27.—Dino Grandi, Italian Foreign Minister, met Tewfik Rashed Bey, Turkish Foreign Minister, at a railway station here to-day on his arrival for a few days' visit.

They were conferring regarding the mutual problems of the two governments.

Tewfik's visit is arousing considerable comment, coming as it does on the heels of the meeting at Milan of Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar of Foreign Affairs, and Grandi.

People There Shivering To-day in Common With Manitobans; Less Cold in Alberta

Rising Temperatures Predicted For Manitoba and Saskatchewan To-morrow

Toronto, Nov. 27.—A special dispatch from Fort William to The Toronto Globe says:

When the train arrived at Schreiber, a special train was in waiting and the injured engineer was rushed back to the hospital. He is expected to be in the hospital several weeks.

SAANICH READY TO GO TO LAW ON CITY'S CLAIM

H. B. Robertson, K.C., Advises Saanich Trustees High School Attitude Correct

The Saanich School Board was yesterday evening advised that it was correct in rejecting liability to Victoria for high school fees amounting to $1,272, claimed for tuition in 1929-30 of fourteen students who were not approved by Saanich and equipped with registration certificates.

In view of advice received from H. B. Robertson, K.C., the board decided to instruct the municipal solicitors, Heisterman and Tait, to accept service in the event that the Victoria School Board should decide to proceed with its threat of legal proceedings.

The following considered opinion was received from Mr. Robertson:

"The court will look at all the surrounding circumstances at the time of the making of the contract and also the position of the parties, and I think the court will hold that the Saanich pupils under the circumstances and in view of the situation of the parties meant only such pupils as were approved by the Saanich School Board."

"To hold otherwise would mean that the Victoria School Board could force Saanich School Board to pay for pupils who lived in Saanich and were allowed by the Victoria School Board to attend the Victoria High School, notwithstanding the fact that the Saanich board might say they never intended that such pupils should attend the Victoria High School, for some reason such as that such pupil had failed to pass the examination in June."

"I am of the opinion that the Victoria Board of School Trustees has no claim against the school trustees of Saanich."

"That, whereas all foreign countries distribute in Canada medals, decorations and titles, this House is of the opinion a humble address should be presented to His Majesty the King, requesting His Majesty to exercise his royal prerogative by granting such titles and decorations as he will think advisable to persons who have been recommended by the Canadian Government in Council."

Wildest of Charges Against Foreigners to Be Heard in Camera

Moscow, Nov. 27.—A lawyer with a cigarette in his hand shot questions in a firm voice at a black-haired, bespectacled man on trial for his life in the Soviet "House of Columns" here to-day, while four judges, blowing clouds of smoke through the courtroom, bent forward to listen.

This is the way they conduct a trial for treason in Russia. The defendant, as the proceedings were resumed to-day, was M. Kuznetsov, one of eight men charged with fomenting a fantastic plot to overthrow the Soviet Government, with the aid of several men in foreign countries.

Professor L. K. Ramzin, apparently the arch plainer, looked him more like a judge than a defendant. He sat close to the bench, with a set of sound magnifiers at his ears so he could hear more readily the testimony. He buried himself continuously making notes, and followed every move with eager interest.

A foreigner would have thought this was all part of a movie set. Great batteries of bright lights illuminated the big room and movie cameras were in operation "shooting" the defendants, the court and the spectators from all angles.

THANKSGIVING MEALS GIVEN JOBLESS IN U.S.

Many Thousands Fed in New York and Other Cities on Holiday

Canadian Press

New York, Nov. 27.—The traditional Thanksgiving turkey succumbed today to the lively battle of knives and forks throughout the United States. Indications were that few were going hungry, though in the large cities special measures were needed to care for the unemployed, whose ranks have been swelled this year to record numbers.

For those more happily situated the day brought a holiday from work. All business was suspended. The annual "trip home for Thanksgiving Day" swelled rail, boat and air travel yesterday and today.

THOUSANDS FED

In New York charitable organizations distributed more than 50,000 baskets of food to hungry folk and 30,000 men, women and children sat down to free meals, 4,000 of them aboard the liner Saturnia, moored to a pier in the Hudson River.

Throughout the country the fall of commodity prices carved a sizeable slice from the cost of the turkey and "fixings," bringing the cost of the average family for the day's meal to $5, less by more than a dollar than it cost last year.

VIEW CLASH AT GENEVA ON DISARMAMENT

The Bernstorff-Cecil debate began when the German asserted the commission had utterly failed to accomplish reduction of land armaments.

ACHIEVEMENTS LISTED

"It seems astounding," Viscount Cecil said, "that a responsible person not carried away by passion and prejudice should make such a statement. We have agreed to limitation of the number of officers and professional soldiers of every army. We have achieved budgetary limitation of total expenditures for armaments. In the face of these facts, to say we have done nothing is to make a statement devoid of foundation."

LAND ARMAMENTS UNLIMITED

Count Bernstorff came back quickly: "Is it devoid of foundation," he asked, "to say that naval and air armaments are to be limited and land armaments are not? I have agreed with Lord Cecil on most points in this commission for four years. If I have changed it is because the question of land armaments has been sacrificed to sea armaments. What is needed is a parity of sacrifice."

FAIR WEATHER IS NEEDED FOR YUKON HUNT

"We circled the plane several times at about 800 feet and to us it appeared the plane had made a good landing, with nothing broken. The wings, propeller and rudder appeared undamaged. No life was seen near the plane, nor signs of any kind. We could not land as the country is rough and the river too full of hummocks.

"We then climbed to 7,000 feet in order to look for a landing place near the Burke plane. We found a small lake fifteen miles away and we will head toward that as soon as weather permits. From there we will know how to place the plane."

THANKSGIVING DAY IS COLD IN STRIKE REGION

Danville, Va., Nov. 27.—A cold, grey Thanksgiving dawn, with the mercury hovering around nineteen degrees, broke over the peaceful village of Schoolfield today with Virginia National Guardsmen patrolling in companies along the streets where disorders occurred yesterday when striking employees of the Dan River Cotton Mills possessed the town and interfered with the entrance of non-union employees.

Non-union employees this morning proceeded along the streets and through the mill gates without interference. Machinery in the mills began turning at 7 o'clock.

There was no picketing at the mill gates and fires that burned for the pickets at midnight had been extinguished.

LIBERALS MEET IN VANCOUVER THIS EVENING

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—The annual meeting of the Vancouver Liberal Association is to be held in Moose Hall, starting at 8 o'clock this evening. Election of officers and an address on provincial political issues by George S. Brown, M.P. for Nanaimo, will constitute the chief features of the programme.

Re-election by acclamation of J. Pitman Hogg as president is looked for, but contests among some of the other offices are indicated.

STRANGE SCENE AT MOSCOW'S TRIAL OF EIGHT

for the prisoners, they smoked as incessantly as anyone else, and appeared to be unperturbed.

The spectators filled the courtroom and a long line of ticket holders waited outside the building.

HEARD IN CAMERA

Moscow, Nov. 27.—The court trying eight prominent Soviet engineers on charges of plotting overthrow of the Moscow Government to-day changed its policy and ruled any further parts of their "confessions" which might implicate "foreign governments" would be heard in closed session.

Alteration of the former policy of having the defendants repeat their open court, with microphones broadcasting their speeches to the entire U.S.S.R., came when M. Kuprianov, fifth of the defendant engineers, took the witness stand.

Judge Vishinsky then warned him any direct charges of intervention by "foreign governments" would be heard in a later closed session. The four defendants who had preceded Kuprianov on the stand, however, already had made their statements, and French leaders, and less directly accused Poland and Roumania in their conspiracy.

IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT HELP

Giving his view, Kuprianov said: "I think that by exposing these plans to overthrow the government we will help to destroy them. Full exposure will disarm foreign intervention, because it is impossible without help from within Russia."

LARGE AREAS IN FRANCE ARE STILL FLOODED

Paris, Nov. 27.—Although the Seine at Paris was falling to-day, the upper Marne and its tributaries were rising rapidly, again flooding low-lying country between Paris and Joinville. Between Orléans and Ayr the river forced an immense lake, with the villages of Reuil and Oucilly cut off by the flood. The Orléans was rising, invading gardens, cellars and riverside houses. Most other French rivers were stationary or falling, notably the Meuse in the east and the Garonne in the west.

In Holland some concern was felt the dike which holds the Rhine at the point where it enters the Netherlands might not hold. An abnormal torrent has greatly weakened the barrier which, if breached, would allow inundation of a considerable area of farms and villages.

BUS BY-LAW IN VANCOUVER NOT YET DRAFTED

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Only two members of the civic finance committee supported a resolution moved by Ald. J. J. McRae, at a meeting yesterday afternoon to ask the ratifiers if they wished to grant a franchise to operate a bus line in the city.

Majority of the aldermen declared a more concrete proposal should be offered before an opinion on a matter of such importance.

It was pointed out that representatives of a Liverpool organization, which approached the council last week on the matter, had been asked to place the matter before the aldermen again next year.

REBUILDING STARTED IN QUAKE AREA

Thousands of Homeless on Japan Peninsula Start Work on Wreckage of Village

Losses Estimated at $50,000,000; Tunnel Boring May Have Been Quake Factor

Tokio, Nov. 27.—Thousands of homeless persons on the Izu Peninsula, the northern part of which was struck by an earthquake early yesterday, turned to the task of restoration to-day. Favored by a bright, warm day after a night of terror, the homeless attacked the work of rebuilding dwellings, shops and farm houses with the aid of hundreds of soldiers and firemen from adjacent cities to the stricken area.

For many it was the second time within seven years they had gazed at the ruin and desolation left by an earthquake. In September, 1923, when nearly 70,000 were killed, the peninsula was struck by a quake which caused the death toll and property damage indicated to-day that while the material losses had been heavy, they had been confined largely to rural communities and hot springs resorts, sparing the larger centres of population.

The effect of the quake on Japan's industrial and commercial welfare thus is expected to be small.

The Shizuoka Prefectural Government announced there had been 253 deaths and 245 persons injured. Houses destroyed were listed as numbering 2,256 and damaged dwellings totaled 5,582.

Besides the damage to private property, railways, highways, communication systems and power plants suffered heavily. The total damage probable will approach $50,000,000, but authorities are unable to make any estimate.

Two large projects, the Shimizu Harbor and the Tanna Tunnel were badly damaged. The harbor, near Shizuoka, is the principal port for the shipment of Japanese oranges, lacquer work and tea to Canada and the United States. New works in the harbor were damaged more than $500,000.

TUNNEL SUSPECTED

The five-mile Tanna Tunnel, which the government railways have been building for the last decade at a cost of $10,000,000, was damaged in many places. Experts say the boring of the tunnel may have had a possible connection with the earthquake, since the bore apparently pierced a seismic centre.

From the outset the tunnel builders encountered immense difficulties such as treacherous earth slides and streams of boiling water.

Earth tremors continued in the northern part of Izu Peninsula. The seismograph at Mishima recorded 350 shocks between 4:03 a.m. Wednesday, when the big quake began, and 8:30 a.m. to-day.

TARDIEU WINS ON VOTE

Paris, Nov. 27.—The Tardieu Government was sustained to-day by a margin of sixty-eight votes on a question of confidence in connection with a bill providing for expenditure of 17,000,000,000 francs (about $680,000,000) on a vast public improvements programme.

Old-time Mining Man Succumbs

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—A funeral service for the late Hugh M. McKenzie will be held here Friday at 2:30 p.m. Born at Marble Mountain, Cape Breton, Mr. McKenzie came to British Columbia in the early nineties and for several years was employed in Kootenay mines. In 1899 he was one of the first to go to the Klondike, and for nearly twenty years he prospected and worked claims from Whitehorse to Dawson.

During the Great War he served overseas with the 7th Battalion and was gassed. On returning to Canada he went to the Yukon, where he remained until shortly before his death. He died yesterday in the Vancouver General Hospital.

BIG LISBON CROWDS GREET TOURING DO-X

World's Largest Plane Alights There After Four-hour Flight From Corunna, Spain

Machine to Be Overhauled; Flight to Brazil May Be Attempted

Lisbon, Portugal, Nov. 27.—The German flying boat DO-X landed here this afternoon after a four-hour flight from Corunna, Spain. Great crowds watched the world's biggest plane circle the city and gathered at the landing place as it dropped on the water.

This was to have been the starting point of a transatlantic flight to New York by way of the Azores and Bermuda, but apparently the Dorniers, designers and builders of the ship, have abandoned that project. They are still considering, however, an alternative plan to cross the South Atlantic to Brazil some time next month or in January.

Before that flight begins the flying boat is to receive a thorough overhauling.

Vigo, Spain, Nov. 27.—The big German flying boat DO-X was greeted by blasts from the sirens of ships in the harbor as she passed over this city to-day en route from Corunna to Lisbon.

Corunna, Spain, Nov. 27.—The DO-X, great German flying boat, left here for Lisbon, Portugal, at 10:55 a.m. to-day. At Lisbon a decision will be made whether the plane is to continue across the Atlantic to North or South America.

Weather conditions were not good at the start. The plane circled the city while the crowds cheered below, and then landed at Lisbon.

PEGGED WHEAT HARNESS MAKES PRICE SCHEME MOTORS SAFE IS DISCUSSED AGAINST RADIO

Statement Awaited From Prairie Farmers' Conference at Saskatoon

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 27.—Prairie farm organizations to-day appeared to stand side by side in favor of a wheat price pegged at $1 a bushel by the Federal Government, Saskatchewan and Alberta bodies some time ago expressed opinions in favor of the plan and the price, but first intimation of a definite step by the United Farmers of Manitoba came yesterday in a statement by W. J. Ward, newly-elected president.

"Seventy-cent wheat is of no use to the farmer," Mr. Ward stated in an interview between sessions of the current interprovincial agrarian conference here. "They need at least $1 a bushel, for they do not get the cost of production. They cannot increase their now diminished purchasing power."

It was expected Mr. Ward would take the same stand at the conference, for he was given a free hand by the annual Manitoba convention, which favored no definite fixed price.

THREE PROVINCES AGREE
If the Manitoba delegation's position is indicated by Mr. Ward's opinion, all the provinces were in agreement on the fixed price matter. The United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, had already asked the government for a stabilized price of $1 at shipping point, while the United Farmers of Alberta had requested the equivalent amount of $1.15 at Fort William. All figures are mentioned on the basis of No. 1 northern.

It is understood the prairie premiers, on their recent journey east in the interests of the plains farmers, asked that the Federal Government stabilize the price of wheat at 70 cents, Fort William. In connection with the premiers' efforts, the Manitoba farmers' convention requested approval and support, but made no mention of the proposed level of "pegged prices."

Questions of grain exchange regulation, centralized selling, price fixing, establishment of a standardization board and Bank Act revision with a view to easier credits for prairie farmers were discussed at the conference yesterday. Today's resolutions on the matters were brought in. To-morrow, the conference delegates will meet with Wheat Pool representatives.

The conference is being held in camera, and statements are being issued twice daily by a publicity committee.

LUTHER SAYS GERMANS WILL PAY DEBTS

Berlin, Nov. 27.—Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, addressing the League of German Industrialists to-day, declared that Germany's recognition of her signature to the Young Plan and asserted all her private obligations would be met.

His explanation, however, that a growing insight into the dangers of the present solution of the reparations problem to the world's economy would lead to changes of some features of the reparations arrangements.

"The most passionate champions of revision of the Young Plan," he said, "understand clearly no German desire for revision can be directed against prompt payment of debts which are of a private character or where the creditors are private persons."

"Whatever may happen to the so-called moratorium or revision, Germany will fulfill her private obligations regularly when due."

"Clearly we acknowledge Germany's signature to the Young Plan as binding for us," Luther said, "and the more effectively can we demand of the other side fulfillment of their obligations."

Defences Needed, Says Gen. MacBrien

Toronto, Nov. 27.—War is still a possibility and the obligations, interests and honor of Canada demand the retention of the country's defence forces, declared Major-General J. H. MacBrien, president of the Aviation League of Canada, in a debate yesterday evening at Hart House here. Gen. MacBrien was formerly chief of staff of the Department of National Defence.

The question, "That this house considers all expenditures on national defence by the Dominion of Canada unjustified," was moved by E. Leacock, a member of the same institution. Comment was also offered by J. McCullery of Pickering College.

Washington, Nov. 27.—An "ignition harness" being developed at the United States Bureau of Standards is designed to forestall the possibility of war waged with legions of radio wave vibrations. Perfection of this harness, created to shield ignition systems from external electro-magnetic interference as well as radiation beyond the covering, would banish the possibility of a lone figure in a bomb proof laboratory bringing down planes and stopping all other motor transportation with a deft twist of a dial.

M. P. Peters, director of the new national laboratory of the Bureau of Standards, in explaining the harness was expected to make airplanes safer, pointed out that every ignition system was a modified sending station that could be made inoperative by any other sending station which should broadcast at the same frequency with sufficient power.

He told of being assured by a physicist in a European laboratory of an automobile being actually stopped by transmission of ether waves corresponding with those of the ignition system of the car. He was doubtful, however, of the practicability of that, even on a small scale.

Under his direction an apparatus for testing this method of stopping motors was set up, but interest in the ignition harness being considered by several commercial concerns sidetracked the experiment. Mr. Peters, however, holds the view that the realm of scientific possibility to visualize an army using radio waves to stop "unharnessed" motors. That would be brought about in the same way that two short wave transmitting stations of the same frequency interfere with each other. Perfection of such a device would give an army a most effective weapon.

Although the development of this weapon of war would be difficult, in his opinion, because of the enormous power required, it is theoretically possible, he states. The frequency range necessary, he says, would not be an insuperable barrier as the entire possible range of ignition systems is small. All the frequencies would have to be included in the transmitted radio band to stop all the motors within the area.

LAKES SEARCHED FOR FOUR MEN

Detroit, Nov. 27.—Coastguardmen and customs border patrolmen from Detroit to Sault Ste. Marie were searching to-day for four men who left here November 11 aboard a forty-two-foot steel tug for a hunting trip to Drummond Island, in Lake Huron.

They had expected to return last Friday. When no word had been received from them yesterday, relatives asked Heinrich A. Pickert, collector of customs, to institute a search. He notified border patrolmen and coastguardmen on St. Clair and Lake Huron to watch for them.

The hunting party consisted of Lake Becker, thirty-five a foreman for the Detroit Department of Public Works, owner of the tug; his brother, Charles Becker, and Einar Aalto, all of Detroit, and the tug wheelman, known here only as "Slim."

MORE SNOW IN MIDDLE U.S. IS NOW PREDICTED

Chicago, Nov. 27.—A night of zero and near zero temperatures in the middle of the week, under the influence of the cold wave's drifts of misery and fatalities.

Even deaths had been added to the toll, and though the weather bureau promised moderation of the severe cold in most of the Chicago forecast district, snow flurries were also predicted to increase the blanket which covered the region.

A night blizzard in Ohio brought five traffic deaths and grounded all planes at Cleveland. Three deaths occurred in Indiana and three more were attributed to the cold wave in Chicago as the mercury dipped below zero in the suburbs.

TWENTY-THREE FACE TRIAL IN DETROIT COURTS

Detroit, Nov. 27.—Definite charges have been placed against seven suspended officers and sixteen alleged hoodlums in connection with the charges of bribery and conspiracy to violate the U.S. Tariff Act in the customs patrol scandal here.

Thirty-three officers are said to have been involved in the investigation, which was being continued to-day. Customs officials insisted that only six or seven of the patrolmen would be brought to trial. All six of them, they said, were assigned to the down-river districts in the vicinity of Ecorse, a hotbed of smuggling activities since the Detroit River first became a prohibition battlefield.

SIX SENTENCED AT CALCUTTA

Calcutta, Bengal, Nov. 27.—Heavy sentences were imposed to-day by a special tribunal on persons convicted of participation in the attack on Chittagong army last April. Six of the army's defenders were killed in the assault.

Mrs. Marayanchandra Roy, Bhupal and Bose were sentenced to transportation for twenty years, fourteen years' rigorous imprisonment and three years' imprisonment each. Three others were sentenced to twelve years' transportation and eleven years' imprisonment. The transportation and imprisonment sentences in each case will run concurrently.

Man Killed By Masked Robbers In Roadhouse Saloon

Glenview, Ill., Nov. 27.—Because he smiled when four masked robbers commanded the patrons of a roadside saloon to "throw up your hands," Russell Thompson, thirty-five, Evanston broker, was shot and instantly killed yesterday.

"Don't smile," the bandit leader ordered when Thompson, one of three men at a side table, looked his way. At the same time he raised his gun and fired point-blank, the charge striking the broker in the left breast.

"You can see we're tough," the slayer called to Frank Engel, owner of the place. "Now open up that safe, we're in a hurry." The safe opened, the robbers scooped up about $150 and fled.

CENSORSHIP IN CUBA IS LIFTED

Havana, Nov. 27.—Newspaper censorship has been lifted, nominally at least, by President Machado to-day. He announced while he was removing the censors from their offices yesterday that the papers would have to stick to the truth.

El Paris, one of the papers which suspended publication rather than submit to censorship, announced it would publish to-day. El Mundo and Diario de la Marina have not determined a date for resumption.

The censorship was invoked when disorders in the capital led to suspension of constitutional guarantees. The Government took special precautions to maintain order to-day, the anniversary of execution of eight Cubans by the Spanish in 1871.

Havana, Nov. 27.—Newspaper censorship has been lifted, nominally at least, by President Machado to-day. He announced while he was removing the censors from their offices yesterday that the papers would have to stick to the truth.

El Paris, one of the papers which suspended publication rather than submit to censorship, announced it would publish to-day. El Mundo and Diario de la Marina have not determined a date for resumption.

The censorship was invoked when disorders in the capital led to suspension of constitutional guarantees. The Government took special precautions to maintain order to-day, the anniversary of execution of eight Cubans by the Spanish in 1871.

REPAYING LOAN

Brussels, Nov. 27.—A bill for issuance of a loan to repay the balance of the $30,000,000 loan floated by the United States in 1921 was approved by both Houses of the Belgian Parliament yesterday.

Shooting Affray Leads to Trials

Buenos Aires, Nov. 27.—Nine arrests were made yesterday in connection with a shooting affray in the Plaza Congreso, September 5, in which two military cadets and a number of civilians were killed, with numerous others wounded.

New Governor For Canary Islands

Santa Cruz, Tenerife, Canary Islands, Nov. 27.—Protests against police severity in disorders Tuesday, in which three were killed and many injured, caused the resignation to-day of Guinea Leon, Governor of the Canaries.

In his note of withdrawal the Governor said he hoped his resignation would cause a restoration of normal conditions.

A general strike, also protesting alleged police brutality, continues. The disorders began originally when dock workers and others heard Tenerife had been abandoned as a port of call for liners plying to South America.

NEW U.S. ROADS ADVOCATED

Kansas, Nov. 27.—Missing thirty-eight, Virgin district farmer, was found drowned in a small lake on his farm, twenty miles from here, yesterday. The coroner declared an inquest unnecessary, stating it was a case of suicide as a result of financial worries.

Man Killed By Masked Robbers In Roadhouse Saloon

Glenview, Ill., Nov. 27.—Because he smiled when four masked robbers commanded the patrons of a roadside saloon to "throw up your hands," Russell Thompson, thirty-five, Evanston broker, was shot and instantly killed yesterday.

ECONOMIC SNOBBERY

IN AN ADDRESS BEFORE THE ROTARY Club of Vancouver the other day, Dr. George M. Weir, of the University of British Columbia, injected a new thought into the controversy about the reason why so many people prefer foreign products to the domestic articles. He sees in this tendency—he calls it an inferiority complex—a feeling that foreign goods are better than our own—the weakness of many people who like to talk about what they bought in certain far-away countries.

This is by no means a far-fetched suggestion. There is a little bit of vanity in all of us, and a little "swank" occasionally gives a good deal of inward satisfaction to some people. But Dr. Weir brings us face to face with the more serious implications of this form of snobbery. In effect he tells us we are paying too high a price for the indulgence of a "distance-lends-entertainment" complex. And perhaps this welcome variation of the traditional "buy-at-home" slogan will have a good effect.

Let it be said again, this business of increasing payrolls is not a government business at all, not a matter for legislation, but a matter for the individual to work out. Put it this way: If 125,000 adults in this province agreed to spend twenty-five cents a day more per head on British Columbia products, the increased circulation of money in one year in the province would be more than $10,000,000—or nearly half as much as the annual revenue of the provincial government from all sources. That ought to be an objective worth striving for.

UNEMPLOYMENT PER CAPITA

ALTHOUGH THE INTERNATIONAL Labor Office at Geneva admits that its statistics on unemployment conditions are "incomplete," it is interesting to note from the following table that free trade Britain shows up again as high protectionist United States and Germany:

	Unemployed	Population
Austria	158,000	6,526,661
Belgium	64,000	7,923,077
Canada	30,000	9,796,800
Czechoslovakia	37,000	14,523,186
Denmark	25,000	3,494,838
Finland	4,000	3,582,406
France	1,000	40,745,874
Germany	3,184,000*	62,348,782
Great Britain	2,100,000	44,173,704
Hungary	20,000	8,369,273
Italy	400,000	40,796,000
Netherlands	25,000	7,625,938
Norway	20,000	2,649,778
Poland	240,000	30,112,962
Palestine	5,000	852,258
Romania	25,000	17,383,149
Russia	1,150,000	147,013,600
Sweden	26,000	6,087,923
United States	4,000,000	122,698,100
Yugoslavia	7,000	12,017,323

Here we have Germany leading with one in nineteen jobless, Britain second with one in twenty-one without work, and the United States with one out of thirty unemployed.

It is to be noted, however, that "France is the only country where unemployment is under control, although it is diminishing rapidly in Russia," says the Labor Office report.

THE PATIENT IS IN NO DANGER

TWO OR THREE MONTHS AGO A prominent Canadian banker said if we in this country had been as prosperous in 1925 as we were at the time he made his statement, we should have considered ourselves quite fortunate. A comparison of the employment index proves his point.

This is one of the facts of which we should not lose sight when we begin to speculate as to how long it will be before business is in a better condition than it is to-day. Nobody is in a position to say when the economic body of the country will regain its full vigor. A doctor is not expected to set the date of his patient's arrival at the stage of apparent convalescence, even though his experience clearly defines for him the usual course of the disease he is treating. Nor is it expected that when the disease has run its course the patient will immediately resume healthful activity.

Similarly, from economic records of the last fifty years, we know that business depressions have lasted as long as three years and as short as seven months, while the average course is about a year and a half. In the past, also, business has, following a difficult period, entered one of convalescence. There now appear to be some healing forces in action, but we can not tell yet whether they will immediately counteract the ailments from which business has suffered, nor, even if this process is under way, just when there will be complete economic recovery. But, as the Canadian Bank of Commerce monthly review points out, at least it is manifest that Canadian business has a strong constitution, and that so far it has shown encouraging resistance to the influences of the past year or more.

GOLD PRODUCTION IN CANADA

CANADA'S GOLD PRODUCTION again established a new high record in 1929, while in the first half of the present year a new high figure was also recorded. Production in 1929, according to finally revised official statistics, was 1,928,308 fine ounces, valued at $39,861,663. This compared with an output of 1,890,592 fine ounces in 1928 valued at $39,082,005. For the first half of 1930 the output, according to preliminary figures, was 976,235 fine ounces, with a value of $20,180,000. The Dominion of Canada is now in a position to close the year for second position among the gold-producing countries of the world, the increasing Canadian output of recent years having steadily narrowed the margin between these two countries. Ontario was the largest producer of gold among the provinces of Canada last year, as it has been for years. The production in that province in 1929 was 1,622,267 fine ounces, valued at $33,535,234. British Columbia came second with 154,204 ounces, worth $3,187,680, with Quebec third at 90,798 fine ounces, worth $1,876,961. Smaller quantities of gold were produced in Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Alberta and the Yukon.

THE FRIEND OF THE INDIANS

THOSE WHO WERE NEVER PRIVILEGED to meet Father LeJeune, the Roman Catholic priest who took enlightenment, cheer, and spiritual sustenance to the Indians of the Kamloops district sixty years ago, and labored among them until comparatively recently, may wonder, perhaps, why so much space in many British Columbia newspapers has been devoted to his memory. Because his editor knew him personally for several years, we may quote the well-deserved editorial tribute paid to him by The Kamloops Sentinel, which is as follows:

"The death of Father LeJeune leaves a blank that none can fill. He was unique. Old-timer, priest, philologist, he was like no other man. Fearless, indefatigable, his life consecrated, he served his cause with joy, and laughter. Nothing pleased him like a new story. His was a chaste mind. And he loved his Indians and chastened them, especially when they were sick and needed castor oil.

"Father LeJeune saw this country changed from a wilderness to a settled and law-abiding land. He belonged to those pioneers who could say they were here before the railway. He helped to make history and was at the very beginning of things here, being widely sought and consulted.

"He was superior to the mere conventions of life. His casebook was often soiled; weeks on the road might make his exterior dusty and grimy. But the heart was unswayed and he had the outlook of a child and all of a boy's sheer joy of a simple jest. As he went his way through the country he never forgot his abiding hobby. Gypsies would have named him 'Lavengro,' or word master. Nothing pleased him more than language and he gave to the world in shorthand a journal like none other, with a story that still persists in traveling round the world.

"It is with regret that we see the reverend father depart, even although he had run his course. Men of all races and all religions would readily join in the amen to the 'Well done, good and faithful servant...' as applied to this good little man of God."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BRITISH PAPERS BANNED

The Editor and Publisher

Two British newspapers were banned from the Irish Free State for the second time November 5 because of the amount of crime published by them. They are News of the World, published in London, and Thompson's Weekly News of Glasgow. Three months after they were first banned they were allowed to reappear, but the ban of November 5 is declared to be permanent.

EMPIRE TRADE

Albert Shaw in The American Review of Reviews (London)

The British Empire has a sentimental history, but it is neither a political nor an economic entity. This is no time to presume upon exclusive favors for British manufacturers on the part of the peoples of India, for example. Great Britain is worthy of a great prosperity, but will not find it along the path of imperial illusions. Her business with the United States, Germany and Argentina should not be sacrificed for a hopeless project.

ADELARD TURGEON

The Ottawa Journal

French Canada loses one of her most distinguished sons through the death of Adelard Turgeon, Speaker of the Legislative Council. He was a man of exceptional ability, and for many years he played a conspicuous part in provincial politics. His gifts as an orator were outstanding, and he had a very large following among his fellow-countrymen whose love of oratory is a steadfast inheritance from their fatherland. Of commanding presence and naturally charming manners, he endeared himself to a wide circle of friends. On the occasion of the Quebec Tercentenary, visitors from overseas were amazed at his eloquence and at the brilliance of his rhetoric. He was eloquent and at the political arena, and one who always paid just tribute to the prowess of his adversaries. When he retired to the peaceful solitude of the Speaker's apartments, he proved an ideal host, and in his direction of the deliberations of the Upper Chamber he manifested an unflinching tact and sound judgment—an echo of the forensic skill he had revealed in earlier days. He was an ornament to his race—one against whose disarming courtesies all personal antagonisms proved in vain.

A THOUGHT

For vain man would be wise, though man be born like a wild ass's colt.—Job xi 12.
If vanity does not entirely overthrow the virtues, at least it makes them all totter.—Rochefoucauld.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

The Victoria Daily Times, November 27, 1905

In connection with the extension of the E. & N. yards to meet the growing demands of this city comes the announcement on good authority that the C.P.R. Company contemplate the removing of the car shops and round house to Victoria.

The present shops at Wellington are said to be inadequate to the needs of the local line. The policy of the company is not, it is said, to improve the works at the northern terminus of the road but, on the contrary, to eventually put up extensive buildings in this city.

The third annual meeting of the White Pass and Yukon Railway Company was held in London on October 30, W. C. C. Macrae, the chairman, presiding.

The C.P.R. steamship Athenian arrived from the Orient last evening after a remarkable escape from the heavy storm which the steamer Arangi encountered off shore.

It is doubtful if any such interest has ever been shown among the general public in Association football as was shown at the recent match between the last game of which was played between the Victoria United and Garrison teams on Saturday afternoon at the Oak Bay grounds. Every game has drawn large attendances, but the final was witnessed by a record crowd of over 10,000 people.

Loose Ends

Something, and probably a little too much, about public speaking, its curious methods, and many curious results—another strange idea from Mr. Mencken—and a new labor-saving device.

By H.B.W.

LIKE EVERYONE else, I have been following with palpitating interest the series of little articles in this newspaper, reporting the first experiences of the great and the near-great in speech-making. To find that these gentlemen, who are now able to make extemporaneous speeches with only a few days' preparation and a few notes, used to be like scared rabbits at the mere prospect of saying a few words—that, I think is comforting. Perhaps it also explains many of the idiosyncrasies of public men new in the devious ways of public speaking. According to the experience of Mayor Anscomb, they cannot even see the audience, for their minds are on a different plane of thought and the Mayor intimates they may be entirely blank. It is not to be expected, therefore, that they shall talk with the tongues of men, but rather with those of angels. It is small wonder either that they seldom know afterwards what they have said; but as I learned by bitter experience as a cub reporter, they do not hesitate to believe that they could never have said what the newspapers reported. It is the custom of new-fledged politicians to object that the newspaper reporters didn't put it exactly as they said it, but when they grow older and more wily in the game, they offer up prayers of thanksgiving nightly on this same account.

MEN EXPERIENCED in the art of public speaking develop curious methods of their own. The late Premier Oliver, for instance, wrote his notes laboriously, in his own round, clear hand, on calling cards, the more important passages in red ink. He kept all his notes by him, and at the last had a large and varied collection. By shuffling them about as one would shuffle playing cards he could devise an almost infinite number of speeches at a moment's notice. I once traveled with him on a political campaign for two weeks and, without ever making a new note, he delivered a different speech every night. Dr. Maclean, his successor, on the other hand, was the worst note maker I have ever seen. Sitting with his feet on his desk, he would write reams of stuff in pencil on a pad of paper and by the time he had corrected it, and inserted random ideas, the completed product was intelligible only to him and not always to the audience. And when he would hand a reporter his notes after a perfectly clear speech, the poor fellow might as well have tackled the hieroglyphics on an Egyptian obelisk.

MR. PATULLO's notes, as you would expect, are immaculate. Every idea is on a separate piece of paper, neatly typewritten—and so clear that you can report his speech without ever hearing it. Mr. Bowser was pretty rough with his notes, and there were mighty few of them, except always a written-out peroration for the end, which he seldom memorized properly and often had to read outright. Mr. Mencken lists his ideas down in minute handwriting on a piece of foolscap, neatly folded in the middle, but seldom pays any attention to them. Premier Tominé sometimes uses neat little slips of paper, but for an important speech writes out the entire manuscript in full, and sticks to it fairly well. Mr. Maitland, who is the best Conservative speaker in the Legislature, works up elaborate notes with headings and subheadings, and occasional phrases which he wants to use exactly. He finds them simple, but to anyone else they are more puzzling than no notes at all. For my team with figures which seem to have no connection with one another, and phrases which mean nothing at all. But from them he can forge a speech bristling with eloquence, humor and insight. Usually it bears a faint resemblance to the notes.

MR. JONES has a somewhat similar method, but his notes are clearer and you can understand the drift of the speech from them, though he makes no attempt to write out the actual words. Better than any of these methods is the use of no notes at all, but this is the counsel of perfection. And yet I have seen Mr. Mencken King and Mr. Arthur Meighen wrestle across the floor of the House of Commons all afternoon and all night with scarcely a reference to any memorandum, except Hansard.

MR. MENCKEN has bobbed up out of the sea of matrimony lately to declare in his American Mercury that war is the salvation of a nation, which fact, curiously enough, he seems to have learned since he was married. His theory is that war is the only way in which a nation can rid itself of the cranks and fools who make peace unendurable, for: "While the late combat to free the world from Wagner, Koch and Nietzsche was being fought, no one heard of the Ku Klux Klan or, indeed, of prohibition. These horrors descended upon us not after the Armistice was signed and millions of marions found themselves without entertainment. The way to get rid of such nuisances, I believe, is to have war all the time and to confine it very strictly to the military." But the failure of the scheme is implicit in the last line. It might get rid of the military, but they are not the worst offenders. It would fail to get rid of the very ones who make civilization what it is. It would fail to get rid of such things as Mencken and his kind, and it would leave the world a worse place than it was.

them to four people at a bridge table while the dealer merely turns a crank. This, indeed, is a splendid step along the path of our cultural progress. All that is needed to make bridge complete is a slight improvement on this device by which it would continue after dealing the four hands, to play them and keep the score. This would be entirely in accord with the progress of the age in every other department of life, would save a great deal of time and intelligence—and, provided you had a good book to read while it was going on, would make the game quite enjoyable. I might even be willing to learn it then if someone else would turn the crank. That, indeed, would be a labor-saving device in a generation worn out by toiling after pleasure.

TRAPPERS' DANCE AT FT. SIMPSON IS PICTURESQUE

Woman Observer Describes Festivities at Edge of Arctic;
Whites and Indians Mingle

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 27.—A dance at Fort Simpson, of which Margaret Hastings writes in vivid fashion in The Country Guide, is thus described by a keen observer.

"Nine o'clock in the evening in the little northern settlement of Fort Simpson, on the Mackenzie River—time to go to the dance which the trappers, on their holidays, are 'making'.

The clock informs us of the hour, the sun is shining brightly. Our summer nights are light, the sun dips below the horizon just before midnight.

SQUADS SIT ON FLOOR

"Wooden benches line three sides of the room, and one corner is reserved for the old women who do not dance, but would not think of staying on the benches.

May Take Cameras Into Galleries In Italy Now

Rome, Nov. 27.—Tourists visiting art galleries and museums in Italy hereafter will be permitted to take whatever photos they wish instead of checking their cameras at the doors as in the past.

The camera operators, however, must be amateur, and the pictures must not be sold. Moving picture cameras are still barred from the galleries and museums.

This is one of several rulings designed to encourage tourists to visit Italian galleries. Last year the admission to all such places was made free and in July, 1930, there were 341,000 visitors, contrasted with 95,762 in July, 1929.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT CALORIES AND VITAMINS IN CHILD'S DIET

The constant reticence of the words calorie, protein, vitamin, etc., has brought about a rather absurd state of affairs. Before such words became commonplace in literature dealing with diets and child care, the mother fed her family meat, potatoes, vegetables, cereals, fruits, and breads, gave them enough water to satisfy their thirst, and willy-nilly they grew up and flourished. To-day the mother has become so self-conscious about diets that she thinks of food in terms of its elements rather than as a means of satisfying one's appetite.

CALORIES JUST A MEASUREMENT

These are plausible but nevertheless amusing motives, for calories are valuable to the pediatrician or dietitian in knowing whether baby's present diet fits his physical needs, but calories are a measurement, not a food. No one is able to tell mother just exactly how many calories per day the growing child needs, because we must depend on the child's having a good enough appetite to eat sufficient food to satisfy him. There are some natural measuring rods, and a healthy appetite is one of them, that far outweighs calories as a means of knowing how much food a child must eat to grow.

An ounce of butter and an ounce of sugar both contain far more heat units measured by calories than an ounce of milk or an ounce of vegetable.

ALPINE CLUB HAS RECEPTION

Members Honor S. H. Mitchell,
Retired Secretary, at Home
of Dr. I. B. Hudson

S. H. Mitchell, who recently retired as secretary of the Alpine Club of Canada, was the guest of honor at a reception held yesterday evening at the residence of Dr. Irvin Bastow Hudson, 1070 Amphion Street.

The gathering was attended by about fifty members of the Vancouver Island section, and also by four active members of the Alpine Club of Canada, Miss Sara Spencer, W. H. Douglas, Lindley Crease K.C., and James White. Mr. Mitchell was introduced by Mr. Crease. He told of the inception of the Alpine Club of Canada in 1906 by A. O. Wheeler of Sidney, and reviewed the organization meeting held in March, 1908 at Winnipeg, and the holding of the first camp in the Rocky Mountains, in the fall of the same year.

Mr. Mitchell recalled the visit to Canada in 1909 of twenty members of the English Alpine Club, and the enthusiastic gathering held that year at Lake O'Hara. He reviewed the consistent progress made in the following years and told of the Mount Logan expedition which was sponsored by the club.

Electra Society Makes Its Debut At Mount Tolmie

The Electra Dramatic Society made its debut before a capacity audience at St. Aidan's Hall, Mount Tolmie, on Monday evening, with R. F. Rendie, the president, in the chair. He outlined to an enthusiastic audience the reasons for the movement which had led to the formation of the society, as a centre for expressing local talent. He then introduced the officers, special mention being made of A. W. Semple, the dramatic director, who had for many years been connected with dramatic work in Victoria West.

The address was followed by the enrolment of several new members, after which Mrs. Semple gave a few words of encouragement to the young society, wishing it great success.

The remainder of the evening consisted of a musical and dramatic programme. Mrs. Harper acting as M.C., Messrs. Pittmore and Norworthy opened the programme with a clever exhibition of tumbling; vocal solos were given by Phyllis Williams and Mrs. Williams; pupils of the Jenny Boyd School of Dancing gave the dance numbers, those taking part being Miss Irene Edwards Edith Hunter, Helen Stewart, Jenny Boyd, Lily Rendie, Nellie Rendie, Michael Grant, Eric Grant, Alfred Francis, Frank Rendie and Robert Clark. A novel dance was given by Barrie Taylor and Thea Snider, of the Art Dancing Academy. A musical solo was given by a quartet, consisting of Miss Winnie White; Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Francis; a piano duet in a delightful manner. A piano solo was given by Helen Raby and a violin solo by Mabel Enaley. A humorous sketch by Mrs. Hudson and Messrs. Semple and Francis was well enjoyed, showing that the society's dramatic work is well established.

At the close of the programme, Mrs. Harper announced that the society would hold the next monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. B. Hudson on December 22. After the close the monthly business meeting of the society was held for members. It was decided again to produce the play, "An Old-fashioned Mother," on December 19. A vote of thanks was proffered to the executive for the efficient manner in which the programme had been arranged.

GIVES ROBBERS MOTHER'S PURSE

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 27.—Betty Ann, aged two and a half years, yesterday aided and abetted in the theft of her mother's purse, containing $12.

Betty Ann lives in North Toronto. Her mother took her downtown and parked her with the car while she went into a house for a moment to interview a prospective maid. Betty Ann was locked in, but the car window was open a couple of inches to give her plenty of air. Betty Ann stood up on the seat to watch the traffic go by. She picked up her mother's purse. Then two men walked past. The window was down just far enough. Betty Ann had a generous disposition. She handed the purse to the men. They did not even stop to thank her.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

24th. Up very betimes and breakfast over early. Samuel to office and myself to town in Pegasus.

Strait to the Murphy Electric Co. to see their new line of lamps of all sorts, at all prices. Correctly chosen lamps add such enchantment to a room. Shadow lamps, the light coming softly through frosted glass displaying a gay nymph or perchance, a dainty of the sea, modernistic lamps and what you will, the light coming from a dainty, dainty in pastel shades and gold.

I do often affect that dainty "Golden Morn" fragrance which Dalmore made famous, such a dewy, tantalizing aroma. Must replenish my bath soaps and powders. So to the MacFarlane Drug Store, an attractive shoppe, with so much to appeal to ladies. Among many others, I see Morry's, a well-known English make and who would not be interested in MacFarlane's of Hollywood—ten shades of powder! And at moderate prices.

High up on the Sayward Building, read name of Foxall's Studio, and so reminded to call for my finished photographs. Methinks it's a speaking likeness, yet withal feel quite satisfied with my appearance. Indeed, so pleased that I order another dozen for gifts for friends at home. A photo of one's self is surely a distinctive gift, and an inexpensive one!

Meet Samuel at luncheon at the Zetland Luncheon and Tea Rooms and find him talking to a comely young lady, who he tells me doth work in his building. Learn that the Zetland, by arrangement, gives special rates to business girls. In sooth, 'tis a quiet place to relax at luncheon time, after a busy morning and they enjoy the home cooked meals and personal attention.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Rules Causing Hockey Moguls No End of Worry This Season.

Plenty of Controversy in N.H.L. Over Penalty for Facial Wounds.

Cooper Smeaton Can Now Draw Breath of Relief.

Baseball Rulemakers Will Take Steps to Stop Home Runs.

Plenty of worries are being experienced by the moguls who rule the National Hockey League, the Pacific Coast Hockey League and the International League over rules. The P.C.H.L. problem has been somewhat straightened out by Frank Patrick's announcement last Monday that all future games would be played under last year's rules. The rules governing play last season appeared to work satisfactorily, and it was more than surprising they were changed at the beginning of the present season. Toronto sports writers are planning the new N.H.L. rules. They are still writing about the eighty-seven stops in the first game at the Queen City between the Maple Leafs and New York Americans. And the International League is also having its troubles.

No doubt one of the big reasons for the bitter feelings shown by Toronto scribes was the fact that the Leafs did not win. Great expectations were built up when Clancy was purchased from Ottawa. Had Toronto won the story might have been different, but they merely tried. One rule that has started plenty of controversy is that which provides for a penalty for facial wounds. It is quite easily for a player to receive a facial wound that might be purely accidental and unavoidable.

An illustration was given of this several years ago, when Hec Kilrea, Ottawa star, accidentally inflicted a deep scalp wound on Howie Morenz of the Canadiens. Kilrea, who is one of the cleanest players in the N.H.L., went back on his knees and his head. He was steady himself. Morenz, sensing the danger as he whirled by, ducked, and the stick caught him on the side of the temple. While being stitched, Morenz declared that it was an accident and he was certain it wasn't intentional. However, Kilrea was given a match penalty. As a result the Leafs were spoiled for 7,000 or so Ottawa fans, as the contest became one-sided after that. The majority of hockey fans want to see the game played except, of course, the more hardened fans who become very belligerent the further away they are from scene of the conflict.

Cooper Smeaton, former referee-in-chief of the N.H.L., who has been having his troubles as manager of the Philadelphia Quakers, will be able to have a sigh of relief. His team took the Toronto Maple Leafs into camp Tuesday night for their first victory of the season. This was a game the Maple Leafs were expected to win, but maybe they were just a little overconfident.

Despite the feverish denials of the makers and handlers of the official baseballs in use in the big leagues, it is there in the fact that a "lively" ball, the rule makers of the game are going to take steps this winter to check the flood of home runs. From a total of 631 last season, the year Babe Ruth came to the New York Yankees and electrified the fans with a total of fifty-four homers, the total for 1930 has increased by leaps and bounds until this year the output was 1,565.

That's an increase of 924 in eleven years. It is an increase of 215 over the fat yield of 1929, and of 572 over 1928, when everyone thought the ball was "lively" and the batsmen were reaching and the magnates were putting up screens to keep the rabbit within the fence lines.

Ponder on the fact that the National League alone had 892 home runs this season, or more than both leagues showed together in 1928, that the National League output has jumped 631 over the mark of 1920 and that that league has almost doubled its figures of 1929 and 1927, and it can be seen how far the synthetic four-bagger has upset and distorted the game.

With all these staggering returns the baseball makers and handlers still insist that the ball hasn't been changed; that it is no livelier than it was in 1920. Like all Gaul, baseball is divided in three parts on that proposition. The players, the men who throw the ball, field it and hit it every day in the playing season, assert that there has been a change. The batters say that it is easier to "ride" a long distance. The fielders say the ball is coming out of the bat faster and they have to play deeper and therefore lose chances for putouts at first base more often than with the deader ball. The umpires, who are the most honest of men, assert that the seams take away their one chance of getting a grip on a new ball.

The baseball magnates are another group. They'd like to see the home run stay in it will keep the customers in the parks and they have been denying in public that anything must be done to give the pitchers a chance and make a better balance to the game.

Interested in making the baseballs. John McGraw believes that about one foot closer would give the pitcher

Notts County Will Meet Chesterfield In Feature Match

Undeclared Leaders of Southern Section Will Clash With Strong Eleven From North Section of Third Division; Thirty-four Ties Are Scheduled; All Third Division Clubs Will Engage in First Round; Big Clubs Do Not Enter Competition Until Third Round; Draw Announced.

Canadian Press

London, Nov. 27.—The first round proper of England's great soccer free-for-all, the English Cup competition, will be played on Saturday next. The little fellows have been haggling among themselves during the qualifying rounds for weeks past and the fittest have survived for the first round proper, when the third division clubs come into the competition. The big clubs do not enter it until the third round.

IMPORTANT MATCHES IN O.C. SOCCER

Aston Villa Opposes Portsmouth in Feature Match of English First Division

Arsenal, League Leaders, Will Play Chelsea; Everton at Bradford

London, Nov. 27.—While the first round proper of the English football cup competition will claim a great deal of the interest of soccer fans in England on Saturday, league football will have much to commend it. In the First Division several important matches are scheduled, notably the meeting between Aston Villa and Portsmouth. The southern club has got into one of the second positions in the championship table, but as the match is at Birmingham they will have to show all their class to win. Aston Villa started the season in fine form, but have not done so well lately. Arsenal, the league leaders just now, will go to Stamford Bridge, where they meet their fellow-townsmen, Chelsea, in a match which will attract an enormous crowd. Sheffield Wednesday, also in second place in the table, look to have an easy task, as their opponents are Blackpool, hardly their match, at Sheffield.

EVERTON TRAVEL
In the Second Division Everton, pace setters, go to Bradford and may lose points. The match of this division to attract most attention will be the meeting between Tottenham Hotspur and Port Vale at White Hart Lane. Both are capable of fine football, though the Spurs have disappointed their supporters a number of times. As the Third Division clubs are engaged in cup ties no league matches are scheduled for them on Saturday.

COLLEGE WILL PLAY KEATING

School Men's and Women's Teams Oppose Suburban Fives on Friday

Friday night will be College night at Keating, when two teams from the local school oppose the suburbanites in games at the Agricultural Hall. The College women will play the Keating fair sex, while the College men will meet the Keating Senior "C" squad. In the other game the Hustlers will meet the Keating Senior "B" squad.

Although not entered in any league, College have a well-balanced men's squad, and, judging from their performance at Duncan, when they lost a close decision to the home seniors they should win Friday night's game.

The Victoria women's squad have yet to play their first game, but it is understood they have been practising steadily. The Hustlers, who dropped a close decision to the Knights of Pythias in a league fixture yesterday evening, will have their hands full when they stack up against the fast-traveling Keating Senior "B" team. The suburbanites have just hit their stride, and at present are playing good ball.

The first game will start at 7.30 o'clock, with a dance following the games.

The best match of thirty-four ties will be that between Notts County, leader of the Southern Section of the Third Division, and unbeaten so far in league soccer, and Chesterfield, one of the strong clubs of the Northern Section. Many of the better known minor teams appear again in the competition, such as Mansfield Town, Gainsborough Trinity and Scunthorpe United.

The draw follows:
Wellington vs. Wombwell.
Rochdale vs. Doncaster Rovers.
Halifax Town vs. Mansfield Town.
Tranmere Rovers vs. Gateshead.
Wrexham vs. Wigan Boro.
Nelson vs. Workington or Manchester Central.
Hartlepool United vs. Stockport County.
Accrington Stanley vs. Lancaster Town.
Scarborough or West Stanley vs. Rhyl Athletic.
York City vs. Greasley Rovers.
Chesterfield Town vs. Notts County.
Boston or Newark Town vs. Rotherham.
Gainsborough Trinity vs. Scunthorpe United.
Crewe Alexandra vs. Jarrow.
Lincoln City vs. Barrow.
Walsley United vs. Gillingham.
Southport vs. Darlington.
Walsall vs. Bournemouth and Boscombe.

Five Knockouts Witnessed at Heavyweight Elimination Show at Seattle

Seattle, Nov. 27.—Five knockouts and technical knockouts were witnessed yesterday evening on a seven-bout heavyweight card, with Frank Sawyer, Vancouver, winning the main event over Claude Davis, Bellingham, with a sleeper punch, being the first round.

The programme was the second in an elimination tournament to establish the best heavyweight of the Pacific Northwest. All bouts were scheduled for four rounds.

Sawyer knocked Davis down four times in the first round, before the Bellingham giant stayed on the canvas. Eddie Gross, Seattle, scored a technical knockout over Red Tingley, Bellingham, in the second round, after beating down the latter four times. K.O. Krog, Vancouver, won the decision over Lou Brown, Everett. Brown went down five times and Krog once.

LOTS OF ACTION
Nick Waddell, Seattle, drew with Jimmy Brasch, Seattle; Sam Kizman, Tacoma, was awarded a technical knockout over Jack Burke, Vancouver, after one round of milling, when the referee decided that Burke was no match for the Tacoma; Chuck Carroll, Seattle, came back after one knockdown to flatten Ed Erickson, Seattle, four times, and win a technical knockout in the third, and Charlie Ness, Seattle, gained a knockdown over Fred Dodge, Tacoma, in the third.

Keen Competition Marks Badminton Match Between Two Association Sides

Score Is Ten Matches to Six; "A" Players Gain Early Lead to Score Win

Y.M.C.A.'s first badminton team yesterday evening defeated their second team in a scheduled Third Division match of the Lower Island Badminton League. The winners held in second place in the league standing, having won three and lost one. The score was ten matches to six.

Three wins in the women's doubles followed by three more in the men's put the winners a long way out in front, and it was only in the mixed did the second team gain any ground winning four of the eight mixed matches.

Some very good matches took place, and the rivalry was keen because of the association having two teams in the same section of the league. Miss Severs and Miss Hickey defeated Miss Marconini and Miss Warnock in the women's doubles to win at 15 to 10 for the "B" players only victory. Mrs. Wingate and Miss Marquart took the same pair to 18 to 13 before losing to the "A" team pair. Mrs. Wingate's 18 to 13 was the best match of the evening when they defeated Miss Warnock and McKinnon 18 to 17 after a very close match.

Results of the match follow with the "A" team being mentioned first:

Section Leads At Stake To-night In Three N.H.L. Games

Chicago Black Hawks, Leaders in American Section, Oppose New York Rangers, Second-place Club, at Madison Square Garden; Rangers Only One Point Behind; Hawks Favored to Win; Ottawa Can Hurdle Toronto for Canadian Section Lead by Win Over Boston; Canadiens Will Oppose Falcons in Detroit.

New York, Nov. 27.—A battle for the top place in the National Hockey League's American division and a possible upheaval in the Canadian division standing come with to-night's three-game schedule of the major hockey league.

The Chicago Black Hawks, leaders of the American section by virtue of their stirring triumph over Boston Tuesday, play in New York to-night against the Rangers, who are second by only a one-point margin. Chicago, an undefeated team, with a big squad of good players, is a slight favorite over the Rangers.

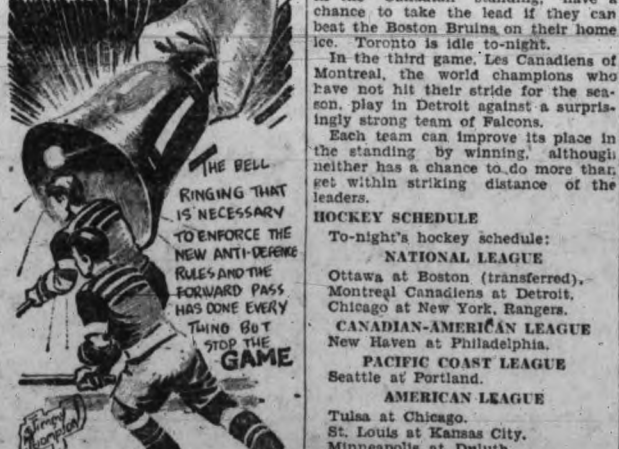

The Ottawa Senators, now only a point behind the Toronto Maple Leafs in the Canadian standing, have a chance to take the lead if they can beat the Boston Bruins on their home ice. Toronto is idle to-night.

In the third game, Les Canadiens de Montreal, the world champions who have not hit their stride for the season, play in Detroit against a surprisingly strong team of Falcons. Each team can improve its place in the standing by winning, although neither has a chance to do more than sit within striking distance of the leaders.

HOCKEY SCHEDULE
To-night's hockey schedule:
NATIONAL LEAGUE
Ottawa at Boston (transferred).
Montreal Canadiens at Detroit.
Chicago at New York, Rangers.
CANADIAN-AMERICAN LEAGUE
New Haven at Philadelphia.
PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE
Seattle at Portland.
AMERICAN LEAGUE
Tulsa at Chicago.
St. Louis at Kansas City.
Minneapolis at Duluth.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 27.—Scoring a last-minute goal to deadlock the contest with Cleveland Indians at four-four, Windsor Bulldogs moved up to the point of the second place alongside Tecumsehs. The latter team fought a thrilling overtime duel with the leading Buffalo Bisons, losing out in the extra session, 1 to 0.

True enough rules are made in any sport to be abided by, but when enforced beyond the point of common sense, color and thrill passes out of the game. You and I go to a hockey game to get a thrill out of the so-called fastest game on earth. But as long as the present fad of ringing the bell for the slightest infraction of the rules, pro hockey will soon be playing to empty seats. Up until to-night there have been twenty-seven games played on the N.H.L. schedule and there has been nothing but a dull, uninspired play is stopped by the referee. The chief reason for this music is found in the rule book as follows: "The puck must not be handled by any player of the attacking side can enter that zone. For infringement of this rule the face-off will take place at the spot where the infringement took place." Yet recently I noticed a player circling around in centre ice waiting until his teammates had time to skate back from the opposing defence zone. This is certainly not the reasonable way to keep the N.H.L. sloping. "THE FASTEST GAME ON EARTH" TO-MORROW—Hockey's Greatest Goalie

Gene Sarazen and Al Espinosa Give Fine Exhibition

Famous U.S. Professionals Shoot Brilliant Golf to Defeat Phil Taylor and Dave Black, 4 and 3, in Eighteen-hole Exhibition Match at Victoria Golf Club; Visitors Pull Off Several Spectacular Shots; Sarazen and Espinosa Both Score 68's, While Taylor Has 69 and Black 70.

Smacking out their shots with machine-like precision in what was beyond doubt the finest exhibition of golf ever seen in Victoria, Gene Sarazen, New York, and Al Espinosa, Chicago, two of the world's greatest golf professionals, defeated Phil Taylor, pro at the Victoria Golf Club, and Dave Black, of the Shaughnessy Heights Club, Vancouver, 4 and 3 in their 18-hole match at the Oak Bay links yesterday afternoon. Although the visiting pros won the match on the fifteenth green the full eighteen holes were played out. Despite the cold weather, a gallery of approximately 500 followed the players.

Although they finished four down to the visiting pros, Taylor and Black both shot good scores. For the eighteen holes Sarazen and Espinosa both had medal scores of 68, while Taylor had a 69 and Black a 70. Sarazen went out in 33, par figure, while coming in he registered a 35, one under par. Espinosa clicked off his 68, which is one under par, with a 32 on the first nine and a 36 coming home. Taylor had par figures on both nine, 33 and 36, while Black was out in 33 and home in 37. During the eighteen holes Espinosa holed out four birdies, while Sarazen bagged three, and Taylor and Black got one each.

One of the big features of the playing of both Sarazen and Espinosa was their deadly approach shots and great putting ability. It was their wonderful work with the masher and putter that beat Taylor and Black, as the four players were on about a par off the tees, although Sarazen let loose with a couple of exceptionally long drives during the match. Espinosa, in particular, gave a magnificent exhibition on the greens and during the eighteen holes won two or three by dropping putts of around twenty-five feet. The two visiting pros also showed great ability to get out of trouble when they did get into it.

A WONDERFUL RECOVERY
Sarazen pulled off one of the finest shots ever seen on a local course at the tenth to finally win the hole with a birdie. He placed his tee shot behind the trees to the right of the fairway. Taking his niblick the stocky little New Yorker pitched right over the trees and smack onto the green about twenty feet past the hole. He then drew the applause of the audience by sinking the putt for a beautiful three. Right after starting the ball on a journey toward the hole, Sarazen turned around and started to walk away with the remark: "I've got it." And he was right.

Going into the lead at the third hole Sarazen and Espinosa were always up and enjoyed a lead of two up at the end of the first nine. Of the five holes played to decide the match Taylor and Black won only one, the eighth, which Black took with a birdie two. All the others were either won by the visitors or halved.

Most of the gallery were struck by the easy manner in which Sarazen plays all his shots. He takes no time whatever in addressing the ball, either the tee, fairway or green, just stepping up to it and hitting it.

The first two holes were halved in birdie fours and par threes. At the first hole Taylor was forced to sink a twenty-five foot putt in order to gain a half with a four, Sarazen having a like score. Sarazen, Taylor and Espinosa all reached the green from the bunker, who are second by only a one-point margin. Chicago, an undefeated team, with a big squad of good players, is a slight favorite over the Rangers.

GOES OUT OF BOUNDS
On the third Sarazen put his first tee shot out of bounds over the fence to the left. All the other three had good drives. Espinosa hit his masher shot dead on the pin about five feet from the hole. Taylor and Black both on the green, the former being short and Black past the pin. Espinosa sank the putt for a birdie three to win the hole.

The fourth was halved par fours with none of the players getting into trouble. At the fifth the visitors went two in the lead. Sarazen let loose with a drive of around 240 yards to get into good position. Taylor hooked his drive while the other two were behind Gene.

Sarazen dropped his approach two feet from the pin, while the other three made a made the green. Although Black made a great effort to sink his putt, the ball stopping two inches from the cup, Sarazen won the hole with a birdie three, putting him and Al two holes in the lead.

Espinosa's thirty-foot putt on the sixth for a birdie three put the visiting pros three up. After all four had reached the green in two's Al came through with his beautiful shot to win the hole.

Sarazen and Black halved the seventh in par threes after Taylor had driven his first ball off the tee into the water and Espinosa was short on both his drive out and approach. Black was forced to make an extra long approach putt from the corner of this rolling green to get his three. Sarazen was off to the right of the green, but judged his chip shot nicely to get within three feet of the cup.

CUT LEAD
Dave Black uncorked a splendid putt on the short 118-yard eighth to win the hole with a birdie two and cut the lead to one hole.

On the ninth Sarazen and Black both reached the green from the green, while the visiting pair were past the pin. The other three all got par.

The ninth was halved in par three's. Espinosa taking a four after being off the left of the green with his tee shot.

Tilden's dramatic comeback to the English championship at Wimbledon as well as his Davis Cup challenge round victory over Jean Borotra are reflected in his advance from fourth to second place, passing Borotra, year ago Myers placed Borotra as well as other French stars, Cochet and Lacoste, ahead of Tilden.

English Badminton Stars Perform Here To-morrow

World's Finest Players Appearing In Exhibitions

Will Play With and Against Island Players in Two Sessions at Bay Street Armories; Packed Houses Will Watch Visitors in Action; Up-island Fans Coming for Exhibitions; Afternoon Session Will Commence at 4 o'clock and Evening Session at 8:30; Lieutenant-Governor Bruce Will Attend.

Victoria sport fans will to-morrow be given the opportunity of witnessing six of the finest badminton players in the world in action, when the party of touring English stars play in two exhibitions at the Bay Street Armories. The afternoon session will commence at 4 o'clock and the evening session at 8:30 o'clock. Packed houses will witness both exhibitions. The exhibitions are being staged under the auspices of the Victoria Garrison Club and will be honored by the patronage of Lieutenant-Governor Bruce and Miss Mackenzie and Mayor and Mrs. Anson.

Many fans are coming from up-island points for the exhibitions. Fifty seats have been reserved for a Duncan party, while other fans are coming from Nanaimo, Courtenay and Port Alberni.

The executive committee of the Garrison Club has selected a group of eight outstanding island players to play with and against the visitors. Duncan, the outstanding centre of while a local pair, Hugo Ramant and Drennan Hincks of the Garrison, will play in the afternoon. Ramant and Hincks were the only players to win from Leney and Birch of Duncan last year in the Lower Island Badminton League. Ramant is the Garrison singles champion and partners the nimble Hincks ably in the doubles. Hincks probably played his best badminton while at the University of British Columbia, as he is one of the greatest players the institution has known. He is a first class doubles player, and his speed in getting to short shots is amazing.

Anna Kier, the dynamic Duncan player, will head the island women, who have been selected to partner the English players in the mixed exhibitions. Victoria women to play with the visitors are Helen Nicholson, Garrison Club champion; Mona Miller, doubles champion and one of the strongest players on the island; and Florence Oates, who is rated as the best doubles player in the club.

After playing here the visitors will leave for Edmonton, where they are booked to play December 1. They then proceed to Toronto, where they will oppose practically an all-Canadian team in a representative match that is attracting national attention. The Eastern Canada-England international match will claim the attention of the spectators on December 5 and 6. They will play in one more match in Kingston before leaving Ontario, and will wind up the tour by appearing for the second time in Montreal.

The programme for the exhibitions follows:

J. T. Tyldesley, Noted Cricketer, Drops Dead To-day

London, Nov. 27.—The cricket world was staggered to-day by the sudden death of J. T. Tyldesley, famous cricketer for England and for the county of Lancashire. Mr. Tyldesley, who had just relinquished his duties as Lancashire's coach, was leaving a room in his home when he suddenly felt dead in the presence of his wife and son.

J. T. Tyldesley was a great batsman in the decade which preceded the rising to fame of such batters as Jack Hobbs and J. W. Hearn. He played for England in test matches with Australia and South Africa in the years 1899 to 1909, and held single-wicket partnership record in an Australian test. Partnered with R. H. Spooner at the oval in 1908, the pair gathered 158 runs for the record innings.

He made three centuries in England vs. Australia tests, once in 1902 and twice in 1905. During his career in first class cricket he batted out no fewer than eight-six centuries.

NAVY DEFEAT BAYS AFTER SLOW MATCH

Two Goals in Last Ten Minutes Give Wednesday Leaders 2 to 1 Victory

Saanich United Come From Behind to Gain 2 to 2 Draw With Garrison

Defeating the Hudson's Bay 2 to 1 yesterday, the Navy increased their lead in Wednesday League Football at the Garrison, second place occupants, were held to a 2-2 draw by Saanich United. The sailors now hold a two point lead in the Hayward Cup series, and with only one week's games remaining the tarts are heavy favorite to lift the trophy.

Scoring their two goals in the last ten minutes of the game, the second just as the whistle blew, the Navy Wednesday League football team managed to defeat Hudson's Bay by the narrow margin, at Beacon Hill yesterday afternoon. The score was 2-1.

For an hour and a quarter the two teams played slack, uninteresting football without a single goal being obtained and even without any really close calls. Then as a fitting reward for having had the best of the game, the Hudson's Bay eleven culminated a series of stormings of the Navy net by taking the lead. The goal was a spectacular one—scored cleanly by McMinnoy from a corner kick. The shot lobbed over the head of the Navy goalkeeper and swerved into the net. This break in the game appeared to be the deciding one for there was less than a quarter of an hour to go.

But the Navy, on the football field never say die, and a losing game was turned into a winning one. Cosier, the Navy's flashy left winger, took the ball and after outwitting the defence turned in toward the net and scored a beautiful goal from a few feet out. Percy Shrimpton, in the Bay's net, though he turned in a finished performance, had no chance at all to save. The Navy then took charge of the game and amid great excitement, Wait, their centre, rushed the ball into the net on a perfect pass from Cosier. The whistle blew immediately for time. The finish was a great one and acted as a warm drink on the chilled spectators.

STUBBORN DEFENCES

During the game there was very little good offensive football, but both teams presented stubborn defences—the Navy especially. Bolstered by the reliable Sadler at centre half, the sailors repulsed their opponent's attacks consistently, though Fish, Hudson's Bay centre, at times played rings around them. Johnson, in the Navy's net, played a fine game and with a little more care would have remained unbeaten. Shrimpton, the other goalie, was even more impressive, but was tested less, and was beaten on two shots that he had no chance to save.

The teams were as follows: Navy—Johnson, Walters, Anslow, Plummer, Sadler, Roberts, Hillard, Pittall, Watt, Twites and Cosier. Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Armstrong, Gardiner, Cull, Woodley, Ockman, McMinnoy, Elliott, Fish, Purdy and Newell.

Equalizing the count twice after the Garrison had gone into the lead, Teddy Hawkes's Saanich United eleven held the Tommies to a 2 to 2 draw in the game at the Royal Athletic Park. Early in the first half, Edwards, centre forward for the Garrison, broke through and scored on Gilliam, suburban custodian, when the Saanich backs and net minder failed to co-operate on a defensive play.

Twenty minutes later Wyatt, playing inside right for the United, scored on a pretty shot to even the count. Seven minutes after the start of the second half, Edwards again secured the ball and drove it into the United's net.

The Saanich boys went on the attack and after dominating the play for some time, scored when Brown, flying-right winger, broke through and found the help with his shot.

The United staged several more dangerous attacks, but were unable to break through the Garrison defence. MacKay refereed and the teams were: Garrison—Wingert, Burgess, Lindsay, Dore, Scanlon, Quinn, Bundoock, Richard, Edwards, MacAllister and Forbes. Saanich United—Gilliam, Cann, Blanco, Speller, Moir, Stonier, Brown, Wyatt, Davidson, Tyson and Speller.

WEST ROADERS ABOUT CINCH HOOP HONORS

Win Over Sons of Canada Gives Suburbanites Strong Hold on Senior "B" Lead

K. of P. and C.P.S. Show Good Form to Beat Hustlers and "Y" Quintettes

By virtue of their victory yesterday evening over the Sons of Canada by an 18 to 16 score, the West Road quintette practically clinched the first half honors in the Senior "B" division of the City Basketball League. In the other two games played, the C.P.S. and Knights of Pythias won handsily from the Y.M.C.A. and Hustlers, respectively, the former winning by a score of 40 to 10, while the latter took their game by 26 to 13.

In the opening encounter, the West Road five ran into an early lead and at half-time were on the long end of a 11 to 4 score. The second half saw the Sons put on a spirited rally, which fell short of their opponents' total by two points. The Sons played good ball in the final period, but poor shooting robbed them of a win.

Albert Reynolds, with eight points, was the leading scorer. The teams and individual scores follow:

Sons of Canada—Nicol (4), Burton (2), Blair (2), Reynolds (8), Warnock, John Taylor (2), and Jack Taylor. West Road—C. Sluggert (3), Claude Sluggert (3), Andrews (4), G. Lannon (7), M. Lannon (3), J. Lannon and Butler (2).

K. OF P. SHOW FORM

Playing like a well-oiled machine, the Knights of Pythias defeated the Hustlers to remain in a tie for first place honors in the intermediate division. The Knights showed the effects of first-class coaching at practice, as their ball handling ability was great and all their baskets came after they had manoeuvred the ball in close to the basket for short shots.

The Hustlers made their only bid for the game early in the second half, when they drew up to within two points of the winners, only to have the Knights go on another rampage to score fourteen points, while the Hustlers scored one.

Caddell with eleven points was the leading scorer.

The teams and individual scores follow: Knights of Pythias—Sheppard (2), McDonald, Caddell (11), Cudlip (2), Forbes (6), Brown, McKenzie (4) and Bissell (1).

Hustlers—Gibson (6), Robertson (4), Johnson, Martin (2), Menzies, Fraser and Macmurchie (1).

The final game saw the C.P.S. flashing the best form they have shown to date. Stew Skillings had a great night collecting twenty-six points.

The "Y" were playing without the services of John Craig, their skipper, and sadly missed his play. Alan Lemarquand refereed all games.

The teams and individual scores follow: C.P.S.—Forbes (4), Davis (6), Viggers (4), Skillings (26), Fagerberg, Robertson and McKenzie (4).

Y.M.C.A.—Engleson (3), Acres (2), Bagley (3), Hume and McGavin (2).

Sarazen's splendid work won the tenth to give him and his partner a lead of three-up once again. Although Sarazen and Taylor found the bunker to the left of the fairway on their tee shots at the eleventh they managed to bag par four and the hole was halved as both Black and Espinosa could do no better than par. Both Taylor and Black had tough luck on this hole as their long putts both rimmed the cup.

The twelfth was also halved with Taylor, Sarazen and Black getting par fives, while Espinosa took a six, the Chicago pro being about twelve feet short of his approach putt, after reaching the green in three.

Espinosa came through with a brilliant shot to win the blind thirteenth, laying his tee shot dead on the pin four feet away and sinking the putt for a birdie two. The other three reached the green from the tee but took three. This gave Gene and Al a lead of four-up.

Halving the fourteenth Gene and Al became dormie. On this hole Espinosa and Taylor each scored par three, while Sarazen and Black took four. The former was off to the left of the green, while Black found the bunker at the left of the green.

The 394-yard fifteenth was halved, all the players getting par fours to give Sarazen and Espinosa a victory by 4 and 3. The sixteenth saw all the players get par fours. At the seventeenth Sarazen bagged a birdie four, while the other three took fives. At this long hole Sarazen was on the green with his second wood, about twenty-five feet from the pin and was down in two putts.

At the eighteenth all four pros took fours to end a splendid exhibition. The match was refereed by E. D. Todd.

Sour Stomach Sufferers

Digested food makes us strong, vigorous, healthy. Dyspepsia are invariably weak and ailing. To make them strong and well, they need the power of Listerine—and that is just what Seigel's Syrup gives. It sweetens the stomach. Liver and bowels do their work better.

At the first symptom of trouble in the oral cavity, begin gargling with Listerine and consult your physician.

Do not be afraid to use Listerine undiluted. Only in this way can you get the full benefit of its germicidal action. Remember that Listerine is non-poisonous, absolutely safe to use, and actually healing to tissue. Lambert Pharmacal Co. Toronto, Canada.

CITY DEBATERS TRIUMPH OVER ENGLISH TEAM

Victoria Team Wins Argument on Bachelor Tax

Talks in Favor of Levy on Unmarried Men Win
Judge's Decision

Victoria's representatives, John T. Fisher, of the Civil Service Literary and Debating Society, and Hugh Allan, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, won a clear-cut victory with their arguments over the touting English team, composed of John Mitchell and H. T. Lloyd, before a capacity audience in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium yesterday evening. The subject was: "Resolved That a Tax Should be Imposed on Bachelors."

Witty arguments and rapier thrusts at some of the conclusions advanced by the local men marked the visitors' addresses but failed to win them the judges' decision. Their delivery, as well as that of the Victorians, was excellent and brought both applause and laughter from their hearers.

John T. Fisher, leader for the affirmative spoke first, followed by John Mitchell, of the University of Aberdeen. Hugh Allan followed with H. T. Lloyd speaking second for the negative.

The debate was sponsored by the National Federation of Canadian University students and was held under the joint auspices of the Service Clubs Council of Victoria and the Civil Service Literary and Debating Society.

TAXED IN EARLY DAYS
In time immemorial taxes had been imposed on the celibate, declared Mr. Fisher, opening the debate. If, in ancient Sparta and in England in the sixteenth century a tax was imposed upon bachelors, why should they cry out now when their country was in direct need, he asked.

He dealt with the status of a celibate against that of the married man and pointed out the value of marriage, not only because it contributed to the population, but developed a fuller man. There were very dark corners in bachelorhood, Mr. Fisher declared. As an economic protest against celibacy, he noted the fact that the unmarried men enjoyed the proceeds of indirect revenues of the married man. Moreover, the celibate failed to repay for the upkeep of the community in which he lived.

The bachelor could afford to pay a tax even higher than the married man, since the former did not help to feed a family.

The tax would be levied according to celibate's means and earning powers, Mr. Fisher stated.

MARRIED MEN TAXED MORE HEAVILY
Generally, however, the married man paid more in direct tax as well as indirect revenue. The bachelor's mode of life was not conducive to the undertaking of responsibilities, but rather to the shirking of them. Hence, he maintained, the celibate should be forced to pay a direct tax.

The race had to be perpetuated, Mr. Fisher said. The tax would tend toward making celibates marry or would at least make unmarried men thrifty enough to pay.

With witty sallies, Mr. Mitchell thrust home shafts of reasoning against his opponent. He refused the argument that bachelors should try to perpetuate the race. Meeting classical allusion with classical allusion, he broke down the case of his opponent regarding the Spartan era.

The bachelor did not always have the wherewithal to get married, he said.

If the government taxed the bachelor it would drive him into marriage as it would drive him to suicide. Or it would put him in a position where he could not afford to marry.

Marriage was a luxury to which Mitchell declared, if a man was not submitted to the tax, he would be forced into matrimony, but not on the plane that it should be.

"Marriage may be an admirable institution, but not every man wants to live in an institution all his life," he declared.

Marriage was not always suitable, he added.

TAXED FOR DEFICIENCY
"A man may be a bachelor through personal, intellectual, psychological or financial reasons, I suggest that they would tax a man for some deficiency, which I maintain, is not equitable," Mr. Mitchell stated.

At present there was a tax upon bachelors, although an indirect one.

Bachelors were necessary to supply the spice of romance in life, he continued. There were many men married who should never have been. But under the tax they would be bludgeoned if they were not, Mr. Mitchell declared. The opposing leader's arguments reminded Mr. Allan of a cape on the south of the continent adding that its name was Point-No-Point, the second speaker for the affirmative noted. Surely, Mr. Allan said, a man could not expect to be married on the amount he saved on the tax. If he did, he must surely come from Aberdeen, he declared.

Taxation was not an evil unless it fell on those who could not afford to pay, he maintained.

The perpetuation of the race, the building of the nation, were forwarded by matrimony, Mr. Allan averred.

MATRIMONY HELPS NATION
Both men and women should be under the tax provided they were not married, since women also earned fair salaries, Mr. Allan contended. If they objected they might marry, a procedure which he considered favorably.

Up to the time the man was twenty-one years old he had expended on him the sum of $1,500 by the state. Of this the majority went to his education. Should he not, Mr. Allan asked, repay the state for this?

Those unmarried men who rose to eminence, certainly repaid the state. But could they not further aid the nation by perpetuating their brains in their children?

Families were men's hostages to the state and tended to make them better men as far as the nation was concerned, he concluded.

With a Shavian thrust, Mr. Lloyd, second speaker for the negative, reminded his hearers that the marriage of a brilliant man did not guarantee a highly intelligent child.

It was unfair to say that a bachelor could live a great deal more cheaply than a married man, he declared.

It was a fallacy and out of date belief that a man's chief duty was to his nation, not to himself, he declared.

A tax, which would rush a man into matrimony was an insult to all marriageable women, he said.

The status of bachelorhood was not entirely due to unmarried men, Mr. Lloyd argued.

Therefore, the proposed tax would be most inequitable, he concluded.

The statement that bachelorhood did not depend upon the bachelor was refuted by Mr. Fisher in his rebuttal.

Further arguments were advanced by Mr. Fisher for his case.

Preceding the debate Mrs. Gwen-dolyn Goodman delighted the gathering with the song "Phyllis Has Such Charming Eyes," while solos were sung at the close by Percy Edmunds.

Mayor Anson welcomed the visiting team in his opening remarks as chairman. Hubert Lethaby officiated as timekeeper, with Judge P. S. Lampman, B. C. Nicholas and Prof. E. S. Farr judges.

Dolls That Don't Need Pampering

 The modern young doll mother likes doll children that will take a few knocks and tumbles without whimpering or cracking—and that will not "lose their heads" entirely, even in the rush of the Christmas scramble. Just such dolls are these—their heads are almost unbreakable, their bodies well stuffed but not too rigid—and their clothes practical as well as pretty. Their prices are practical, too—a consideration in which the dolls' "grandparents" are likely to be interested.

A Felt Doll at $1.95 Has unbreakable head and body, felt dress, with hat and shoes to match. The blonde or dark hair is bobbed and the frocks are green, blue or pink. Height 18 inches. Dolls in Voile Dresses Look nice in blue or pink with the trimmings of lace and felt. These have stuffed bodies, com- position arms and legs, celluloid heads and life-like eyes. Prices $2.95, $3.25 and $3.75 Are the Dolls for the baby and small child. They are dressed in gingham dresses with bonnet. Prices, 20c, 29c, 60c, $1.20 and $1.95	All Children Love Teddy Bears Soft to handle and so com- pact, with the movable legs that enable them to be en- cased just where the child wishes. PROPER MINERALS ESSENTIAL TO KEEP BODY FUNCTIONING

ALL TISSUES AND FLUIDS NEED SALTS SUPPLY
By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

As has been mentioned in all of the discussions of nutrition in these columns, the protein, carbohydrate and fat furnish the necessary sources of energy for the body and the protein particularly supplies the material for building new tissues.

In his discussion of infant nutrition,
Dr. W. M. Marriott emphasizes especially the necessity of proper minerals.
Every tissue of the body and all of the fluids which are in it contain mineral salts. These mineral salts enable the cells to function properly and aid in the digestion of food.

In the activities of the human body,
mineral salts are constantly used up, and unless an equivalent amount is supplied in the diet, the wasting of the body occurs. For every part of protein that is deposited in the body, about one-third as much mineral matter is also stored. Furthermore, there is also definite relationship between the amount of mineral material and the amount of water.

When there is a great loss of the mineral matter occurring as a result of diet deficient in salt, or as a result of starvation or prolonged diarrhea, places his own views on paper. He trusts that some freak of chance will bring his rebuttal before the eyes of those who may have the power to avert the action he decries.

It is to be hoped that the views expressed by "Fisherman" will be noted by the Minister and weighed against the proposals of the local Fish and Game Association.

The proposition that a license fee shall be imposed upon residents of the province, before they apply in their own waters, is not subscribed to by the majority of "fishermen" nor are they desirous of being told, by law, what manner of bait they shall present to the fish. They realize that little of the money obtained from the imposition of such a license would go toward the improvement of the fishing, but would be used for the provision of tags "to be carried in a conspicuous place upon the person" and the hiring of inspectors to see they were so carried.

It is noteworthy that the proposition emanates from the small, select circle of "fly fishermen," which is composed largely, even to whom the license fee would be no burden; who are able to proceed to their favorite lake or stream in an expensive car, put together a hundred dollars worth of equipment, don costly waders, or enter a more costly boat and use their flies. In parenthesis it may be said that many of them decide that the fish are not rising. Puritively, but with an inner sense of exultation, they proceed to fish in the ancient manner, by offering the quarry a real and natural meal in place of a tinelled fraud.

To the average "fisherman" a fly is a pleasant thing to use, at certain times and when opportunity (such as a seat in their richer brother's boat) offers. Of necessity, or from choice, he considers it a side-line.

To the "fly fisherman" the fly becomes a fetish to speak of its use, a sacred creed. Through some extraordinary psychological reaction he becomes a fanatic, intolerant of the views of others and desirous of imposing his
"Kultur" upon the world. Disdaining
the milder forms of proselytism he
adopts the methods of the inquisition,
seeking to impose penalties of law upon
those who do not endeavor to convert.
In the final analysis it will be found that the word "selfishness" explains
some of his actions.

Should such a law as the "fly fishermen" propose become effective it is to be hoped that its hand will be felt first by one of those humbugs who are fond of making speeches about
"Kultur" upon the world. Disdaining
the milder forms of proselytism he
adopts the methods of the inquisition,
seeking to impose penalties of law upon
those who do not endeavor to convert.
In the final analysis it will be found
that the word "selfishness" explains
some of his actions.

U.S. INQUIRY IN MEXICO CHECKED

Mexico City, Nov. 27.—The police department here to-day made public a statement saying that Foreign Office had refused to approve any member of the Congress of the United States coming to Mexico in an official capacity to investigate Communist documents here.

The police statement said the Foreign Office had made known its stand some time ago and "duly notified those who he suggested it could not approve any member of the United States House or Senate coming to Mexico officially to engaged in any kind of investigation."

Ulysses Grant Smith, who is here examining the documents, is understood to be an unofficial representative of the Fish Congressional Committee of investigation of Communist ac-

UPPER SILESIA

PROTEST IS MADE

BY GERMANY

Berlin, Nov. 27.—The German Cabinet, after a night session which lasted until nearly dawn, decided to-day to present Germany's complaints of alleged Polish terrorism toward German inhabitants of Upper Silesia at the next regular meeting of the League of Nations Council.

There will be no demand for an extra session of the council. The council, it appears, probably will make the session one of the liveliest in League history.

Meanwhile the world is being informed of the grounds for Germany's complaints in a note embodying them sent to the secretariat of the league, and presumably to be published on arrival at Geneva to-morrow.

As far as can be learned, the German note embraces two points—a protest against alleged acts of terrorism committed by Germans in Upper Silesia during the recent weeks and months, and a protest against the alleged infraction of German voters' liberty during the recent campaign and election there.

GOLD VALUES AT COAST MINES

The Financial News Bureau says that encouraging results are reported from development at the Coast Copper Mines of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, Miller Court and Co. announced to-day. While it is not generally known, the management secured excellent gold values several months ago, and since then have been centring attention upon delimiting and outlining these occurrences. It is in this work that the encouragement noted above was secured.

The precious metal is said to have been found at depth, 1,400 to 1,600 feet. Diamond drilling has been under way for some time, and excellent values have been received. High grade gold ore over commercial widths have been indicated by the drilling.

IMAGINE YOURSELF on an unfamiliar highway at night in the country. You want to go to Allison. You come to a forked road.
No signs! Which way? You turn left and come to a crossroad. No signs. You turn

Liberty. You go back to the fork and turn left. A mile or so farther on you come to another crossroad. A sign pointing right says "Allison three miles."

But for that sign-post you might have traveled miles—spent hours, and come short of your destination.

Dean L. S. Klinek, president of the University of British Columbia, arrived in the city to-day from Vancouver.

"The New Hygiene" will be the subject of an address by Dr. H. W. Hill of the University of British Columbia, before the University Extension Society at Victoria College this evening. The lecture will start at 8.15 o'clock.

Edward Moor, fifteen, of 605 Craigflower Road, was admitted to the St. Joseph's Hospital this morning with a bullet wound in his foot, suffered when playing with a .22 rifle. Dr. W. H. Moore attended him.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Knox Presbyterian Church will hold its thanksgiving in the church at 8 o'clock yesterday evening and commencement of business this morning. Except for a handful of silver, inadvertently left in a desk drawer by a stenographer, nothing was taken.

Thieves ransacked the offices of the British Columbia Telephone Company between 8 o'clock yesterday evening and commencement of business this morning. Except for a handful of silver, inadvertently left in a desk drawer by a stenographer, nothing was taken.

When his car skidded on the icy surface of the Malahat and crashed over a bank, W. B. Roberts, traveler for Burns and Company, narrowly escaped injury yesterday afternoon. The car was badly damaged but Mr. Roberts was unhurt.

Three cases of failure to pay trades licenses were on the list in City Police Court this morning. A warrant for non-appearance was ordered in one case, a second was dismissed as the license fee had been paid and a remand was granted in the third.

Capt. Ian St. Clair, retired director of physical education of the Victoria public schools, was yesterday evening voted the thanks of the Saanich School Board for a series of educational addresses given recently in the Saanich schools.

Attention was drawn to the fact by Ald. William T. Straith that a number of products from Salt Spring Island, B.C., are marketed in Victoria at the luncheon of the industrial and tourist trade groups of the Chamber of Commerce to-day. A special committee was named to look into the matter.

The judge refused the request of G. E. Housner, counsel for the Women's Institute, to adjourn the case so that the two men who operate the gas station next garage at Shawanigan could come down individually to testify.

"If they both have to come at once, it means they will have to close down the garage for the day, and this means they will lose money," Mr. Housner said.

"You are asking me to adjourn this whole case so that these men won't have to close their garage for a few hours and might miss a few dollars," the judge replied. "I will do no such thing."

Figures were presented in detail showing that operation of the general store at Shawanigan yielded an average profit of $123.3 a day.

Other witnesses on the stand to-day were John Brown Bell, Ellen Finlay, Anabelle Woods and John H. Johnson.

SPORTING GOODS MEN WANT CHANGE IN CLOSING HOUR

Amendment of the Shops Early Closing By-law to allow sporting goods and bicycle stores to remain open until 9 o'clock on Saturday evening is asked of the City Council in a petition submitted by proprietors of this class of business in the city.

The petition will probably come before the council next Monday evening. Sporting goods dealers who sponsored the petition, explained that several years ago hardware and bicycle dealers petitioned the council to have 9 o'clock Saturday closing enforced, but subsequently the hardware dealers petitioned for repeal of the ruling as far as they were concerned. The sporting goods dealers then asked the council to have the same action which would give them the option of keeping their places of business open after the usual closing hour at the week-end.

Practically all dealers in the city, with the exception of one, have signed the petition, it was stated.

WOULD HAVE SHIP BUILT IN VICTORIA

A request to the Federal Government, through D. B. Plunkett, M.P., that the government consider building one at least of the two ships planned for this coast, in this city, will go forward from the industrial and tourist trade groups of the Chamber of Commerce as the result of action taken at their luncheon to-day.

Although it was realized that ships previously built here had cost more than those constructed in the United Kingdom, it was thought that the move might be backed through patriotic reasons and in order to assist employment in Canada.

Another phase of the question, regarding supplies, was considered. It was noted that efforts were being made to have a heavy duty imposed upon ships or ships' parts coming into Canada. This action, it was pointed out, was contrary to the British North America Act.

KETTLE VALLEY RAILWAY LINK WILL BE BUILT

Contract About to Be Awarded For Work Involving Expenditure of $640,000

Vice-president of the C.P.R. Western Lines Leaving For Vancouver This Evening

On his return to Vancouver, D. C. Coleman, vice-president C.P.R. western lines, will confer with C. A. Cotterell, general superintendent, relative to railway construction on the Kettle Valley Railway. Within the next few days it is expected that a most important contract will be placed for the construction of an 8.5-mile link on the Kettle Valley line between the Okanagan Falls-Oliver line and the branch from South Penticton to Skaha Lake.

This particular work will involve an expenditure of approximately $640,000, and will go a long way toward relieving congestion in the interior of the Province.

TENDERS CLOSE MONDAY

Coast firms are now figuring on the work and tenders will close with A. McCulloch, chief engineer of the Kettle Valley Railway, at Penticton, on December 1.

It is figured by the company's engineers that the contract will involve the excavation of about 120,000 cubic yards of solid rock and 150,000 cubic yards of loose rock and 150,000 cubic yards of hardpan.

Approximately 450,000 board measurement feet of timber and 23,000 lineal feet of piling will be required for the work.

Culvert timbers will total 20,000 lineal feet, while about 35,000 pounds of the contract will be in the bridge work. The contract will give employment to between 250 to 300 men and will be carried on all through the winter, the date for its completion being set for March 31.

Tracking and ballasting by railway crews will follow grading construction.

In the opinion of Mr. Coleman, the new Kettle Valley link will fill a long-felt need in the southern interior.

SAW CAPT. NEROUTSOS

Among those who visited the C.P.R. vice-president at the Empress Hotel this morning was Capt. C. D. Neroutsos, manager of the B.C. Coast Service. Various matters relative to the operation of the coast service were discussed.

Another visitor was H. E. Beasley, former superintendent of the E. and N. Railway.

Mr. Coleman and his party plan to leave the city to-day for the Mainland.

INVESTIGATORS NOW BUSY ON THREE CASES

Under orders from Attorney-General Pooley, investigation was started to-day into the affairs of Branson, Brown & Company, stockbrokers, who closed their doors at the first of last week.

The investigation is being conducted by Albert F. Griffiths, who has been appointed by the government as special investigator. Mr. Griffiths went to the brokerage office this morning after the appointment was made public and took charge. He will also investigate operations of the Vancouver office of the firm.

Investigation into the firm of R. P. Clark & Company, Vancouver, was also launched to-day by the Attorney-General under the Security Frauds Prevention Act, with Ragnald Tupper appointed as government investigator.

Investigation into the affairs of the B.C. Bond Corporation was resumed this week. H. F. Boorman, president; Lewis Neeldan, secretary; directors and officers were placed on the stand under examination.

Nearly 2,000 clients now have their accounts in the three firms tied up.

STRATHS WILL ENLARGE STORE

Popular Clothier to Have One of Finest Establishments on Coast

Climaxing many years of business expansion, George Straith Limited, well-known local clothiers, will shortly enlarge their premises to include the adjoining property now occupied by the New Method Laundry offices on Douglas Street. It was announced this morning.

"Our intention is to give Victorians a men's clothing store as finely equipped as any on the entire Pacific Coast," George Straith, president of the company, said.

Present plans, which commence with a store-wide clearance of stock, beginning next Monday morning, include the complete renovation of the present store. The sale, the first in the history of this well-known firm, is necessitated by the extensive nature of the renovations planned.

Announcement of these plans for expansion bears eloquent testimony to the initiative and optimism of George and Alex Straith, founders of this popular firm, which has always adhered to the policy of offering only the very finest in fashionable apparel for men.

Both George and Alex Straith are former star athletes in ice hockey, baseball and lacrosse and sportsmen of the city have for many years made the firm a favorite place to purchase their wardrobe.

The store will be opened on Saturday to facilitate preparations for the sale.

KEENS LOSE $35,000 ACTION AGAINST B.C.E.R.

The jury failed to find any negligence on the part of the B.C. Electric Railway Company in connection with the accident to Mrs. Beale Keen on March 13 last, and on its verdict to the court, Mr. Justice Murphy dismissed Mrs. Keen's suit for $35,000 damages and of her husband for $5,000 more for loss of her services in their bakery business on North Park Street.

Sidney West, driver of the street car, testified that the car on which Mrs. Keen and her daughter were riding, stopped at Pandora Avenue and Douglas Street and that there was no jerk after it had stopped to cause Mrs. Keen to fall backwards and break her hip. Mr. West said the car stopped at its usual place and that he did not move it until after the accident. He said that he had helped Mrs. Keen off and on many times, and that she was as active as was represented.

H. J. Morgan, who was waiting for the car at the time of the accident, also testified that there had been no second start.

M. S. CRAIG NEW HEAD OF WARD TWO LIBERALS

M. S. Craig was elected president of Ward Two, Victoria Liberal Association, at its annual meeting in the Liberal Headquarters yesterday evening. Gus Brown was named vice-president and D. Smith secretary. Mrs. J. de Blaquiere, Mrs. C. McLean, E. Mesher and G. Garvin were appointed delegates to the central executive.

During the evening Major Fred Richardson, president of the local association, addressed a few words to the gathering on Liberalism, while Major S. M. Mordie spoke on organization.

Following the meeting, over which Mrs. J. de Blaquiere presided, the gathering enjoyed dancing and cards.

START WORK ON NEW BEACH HOTEL BY DECEMBER 20

Reconstruction of the new Beach Hotel on Beach Drive will be under way by December 20, it was announced to-day by Capt. William Merston, representing the syndicate of owners.

Percy Fox, architect, has been commissioned by Capt. Merston to prepare plans for the building and it is expected that the working drawings will be ready for approval by the first week in December.

The new structure will be similar in design to the hotel recently destroyed by fire, but will be made more fire-proof. A contract has been let for the clearing of the site, this phase of the work being in the hands of Edward Rainald.

The cost of the new hotel, fully equipped and furnished, will be upwards of $100,000.

SOLARIUM PLANS CHRISTMAS TREE

The Queen Alexandra Solarium will hold its annual Christmas tree entertainment on Tuesday, December 23, at 3 o'clock, and the board of directors has prepared the following list of suggestions for the benefit of friends who contemplate contributing to the tree and are uncertain as to what to send:

For girls—Work baskets with sewing materials, stamped fancy work, wool of all colors for making afghans, stationery, photograph albums, miniature sets, birthday books, crayoning books, drawing books, cutting-out books, puzzles, games, especially Lotto A. A. Milne's books, school paints, pencils, erasers and school bags.

For boys—Airplanes, trains, cars, tanks, toys, dummies, birthday books, stationery, ario blocks, rubber animals (for babies), balloons, games, puzzles, miscellaneous toys, school paints, pencils, erasers and school bags.

Local canners are prepared to pay $50 a ton for good Bartlett pears, and will pay an additional amount for premium fruit, the markets branch of the Department of Agriculture announced this afternoon in its semi-weekly market bulletin.

The circular letter advises farmers owning Bartlett pear trees to prune, spray and cultivate, as the fresh fruit market is capable of absorbing large quantities.

A Whinlapp seed dealer has contracted with a Vancouver Island seed grower for a considerable quantity of root crop and sweet pea seeds. The markets branch reports the contact as an encouraging step in the progress of Vancouver Island towards recognition as a source of premium seeds.

GROUPS SEEK DATA ON COAL POWER MAKING

Discuss Securing Electricity From Fuel Instead of Campbell River

Chamber of Commerce Bodies to Look Into Matter Before Backing B.C.E.R. Co.

A special committee from the tourist trade and industrial groups of the Chamber of Commerce will wait up on the parent body and endeavor, with its consent, to gain full data on the possibility of securing power from coal to offset the proposed Campbell River power project, it was decided at a joint meeting of the two groups to-day.

James Parfitt, who spoke on the work that had been done by the industrial groups in this field, said he had unanimously endorsed the B.C. Electric project at Campbell River, and as far as he was concerned, it was a closed matter.

Mr. Parfitt noted that the power from this source would eventually be extended to this city.

The matter was brought up owing to a letter from coal men from the Cumberland district, who had sought the refusal of water rights, since water developments would result in further unemployment in the coal mines. Coal interests had hoped to have full data on the project of producing power from coal shortly, it was noted.

C. P. Hill stated that in view of present conditions, he thought, the matter might well be left alone. He referred to the number of miners who would lose employment, and noted that the power project would destroy one of the greatest tourist assets on the island.

TO CUT VALUABLE TIMBER

C. L. Harrison stated that timber necessary to be cut for the project was valued at $8,000,000. "Who is going to pay it?" he asked.

Moreover, the power line to Victoria would cost $1,750,000. The right of way would have to be purchased through valuable timber lands owned by influential interests. The remains have to be met by someone, Mr. Harrison said.

Victoria should ask the Government whether or not power could be secured as cheaply from coal, he maintained.

"We should not jump into this with our eyes closed," he declared.

If the coal industry were hit, as it would be, the island would lose 15,000 people. He was confident that the coal survey would prove power could be developed as cheaply from coal as it could from the Campbell River source.

Boards of trade in the vicinity of Victoria had asked for a Government inquiry into the coal-power proposition.

Mr. Parfitt also voiced the hopes that the coal proposition would be successful.

The Government, Mr. Harrison felt, ought to compensate the British Columbia Electric Railway Company for the expenditures it had made.

He suggested that the B.C. Electric "not break its neck" to get the falls, but was protecting itself from any other company.

DOROTHY MACKAIL
STARS AT CAPITOL IN
"BRIGHT LIGHTS"

The legion of admirers Dorothy Mackail has recruited, particularly since she introduced her voice in "The Barker" and "The Captive Woman," will see her in her latest picture "in her true colors." She will be seen in a technicolor film.

The picture is "Bright Lights," a First National special dramatic film, now at the Capitol Theatre, with music and dance numbers incidental to the romance and drama surrounding the evolution of a celebrity from a mule-dancer in an African dune.

Seen in natural color film, Miss Mackail not only gets the full benefit of her typical English ruddy complexion, blue eyes and blonde hair, but she takes on a very becoming roundness characteristic of the technicolor film, which lends depth and a stereoscopic effect.

Frank Fay, Noah Beery, Daphne Pollard, James Murray, Tom Dugan, Inez Courtney and many other favorites have important roles in "Bright Lights."

POLLY MORAN AND MARIE DRESSLER IN PLAYHOUSE PICTURE

It was inevitable that the stock market crash should inspire the writers of movieland, and hence it is that Marie Dressler and Polly Moran of M-G-M favored across America, the screen of the Playhouse Theatre to-day in an uproarious comedy titled "Caught Short."

"Caught Short" concerns the successes of Polly Moran, Washington Square (N.Y.) landlady, in the late lamented "bull market," and the eventual capitulation of her more conservative friend, Marie Dressler, Anita Page and Charles Morton, furnish the juvenile love interest of the comedy and excellent character performances are given by T. Roy Barnes, Herbert Prior and Edward Dillon as boarders.

JACK OAKIE CAST IN COMIC ROLE AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

Now they call him "The Sap from Syracuse," but Jack Oakie's fun belongs to the nation. The wise-cracking grin magnet is the nation's latest craze, and, at the Columbia Theatre, to-day he is at his best in a comedy made to order for his brand of light-hearted laugh-making.

As the butt of Syracuse smart-alecks, Oakie chins his way to glory. Enabled to gratify a life-long ambition to see what the other side of the "big pond" is like, Oakie boards the boat only to find himself mistaken for a famed engineer reported to be traveling incognito. From then on the fun mounts in rapid crescendo. He meets a girl in distress, saves her from two scheming rascals, accidentally stumbles on a solution for a big engineering problem, and finds himself with a wife and a fortune.

FUNDS BALANCE SCHOOL COSTS

Saanich Trustees Find Increased Expenditures Met By Larger Income

The Saanich School Board will complete its year with a balanced budget, the trustees were yesterday evening informed by Secretary Robert Brydon. Audited accounts for the ten months showed expenditures had amounted to $116,417.67 and that a balance of $22,923 was available for the remainder of the year.

The estimated costs for the year had been $138,000, but additional revenue of $2,540 would offset the slightly increased expenditures. The principal increase in income was from Government grants, which had been placed at $37,190, but were now rejiced upwards to $39,192.94.

The trustees expressed pleasure with the result, which they freely credited to the efforts of Mr. Brydon. They also recalled the stringent pruning of estimates which had been made last January to co-operate with the municipal council in its successful reduction of the tax rate by two mills.

ENGLISH FILM, "LOOSE ENDS," AT COLISEUM

Owen Nares has made his first long talking film. He plays the part created on the stage by Dion Titherage in the latter's play, "Loose Ends," which has been directed by Capt. Norman Walker for British International Pictures, and which is now at the Coliseum Theatre. Mr. Nares, who was one of the early "stars" of the silent screen—his first picture was made in 1913—thinks that some of his stage successes—"The Charm School," "Diplomacy," and so on—would make admirable "talkies."

Mr. Titherage co-operated with Capt. Walker in the production of "Loose Ends," and wrote new dialogue where it was needed.

Two Ships Bringing 2,000 Tons Oranges

President Madison Due Tomorrow With 1,300 Tons; Mishina Maru 700 Tons

Princess Victoria Will Make Special Trips From Victoria to Mainland in Trade

Victoria shipping men and others who have business with freight landed at this port from the Orient are preparing for one of the largest movements of Japanese oranges through Victoria in many years. The movement will commence to-morrow evening, and dock workers and shipping agents will be busy handling the movement until late Saturday.

A total of 2,000 tons of oranges for the Christmas trade will be landed here to-morrow evening and Saturday morning from two Orient liners.

The American Mail liner President Madison will arrive here to-morrow evening from the Orient with 1,300 tons of cargo for discharge at Rithet piers. Most of this, it is believed here, is Japanese oranges for transshipment to Vancouver. The B.C. Coast Service steamer Princess Victoria this morning had steam up in the inner harbor and on Saturday morning will go round to the Rithet piers to load these oranges and take them to Vancouver. At the mainland port they will be loaded aboard special Canadian Pacific refrigerator cars en route to the prairies and the eastern provinces.

HAS 700 TONS

The Japanese liner Mishina Maru, due here Saturday morning, from the Orient, has 700 tons of Japanese oranges for discharge at Victoria. The Mishina will go to Ogden Point and transshipment of her cargo to the east will be done over the Canadian National lines. Arrangements are now being made by local freight officials of the company to load the oranges on refrigerator cars at Ogden Point and send them by barge to the mainland. The Mishina will be here about six hours.

The O.S.K. liner Manila Maru passed Victoria yesterday evening, bound for Vancouver with 50,000 bundles of Japanese oranges for discharge at the mainland port. The Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia, due here early Saturday afternoon, will carry 40,000 bundles direct to Vancouver, while the Blue Funnel liner Tyndareus, due here on Tuesday from the Orient, will proceed to Vancouver with 30,000 bundles. By the end of next week a total of approximately 200,000 bundles of oranges each will have passed through Victoria or have been landed in Vancouver. About 90,000 bundles are for distribution in British Columbia and 200,000 bundles for shipment to points

NEW C.P.R. HOTEL FOR YARMOUTH

C.P.R. Lets Contract For the Erection of Lakeside Inn at Yarmouth, Nova Scotia

Montreal, Nov. 27.—Construction of the Lakeside Inn, a new hotel for Yarmouth, N.S., will be started immediately and the hotel is expected to be ready for business next June.

E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated yesterday.

The contract for this new tourist facility for Nova Scotia has been awarded to the Parsons Construction Company, Montreal, N.B., and will mean the spending of a large sum of money on Canadian materials, which will be used wherever possible throughout the entire structure.

The new hotel will be the third on the line of the Dominion Atlantic Railway in Nova Scotia, and its completion will mark another step in the development of the province's tourist facilities by the Canadian Pacific Railway during the last few years. The Pines, at Digby, and the new Cornwallis Inn, at Kentville, which is now nearing completion, are examples of recent investments by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

This summer the company increased the efficiency of its Bay of Fundy service in noted manner by the addition of a partial new steamer, the Princess Helene.

Occupying a commanding site about a mile from Yarmouth, on the main highway between that point and Digby, the Lakeside Inn will be assured of a large proportion of the tourist business from other parts of the Maritime Provinces and from New England as well as from the lower St. Lawrence districts. Actually, the hotel will be away from the highway, separated from it by a pleasant lake, over a narrow part of which a bridge will provide the necessary approach to the hotel grounds. The building will stand on a slight eminence, commanding an extensive view.

BUNGALOW STYLE

Designed in the bungalow style of architecture, the hotel will have fifty-five rooms with baths, providing accommodation for more than 100 guests. Local stone and stucco will be the materials chiefly used in its construction.

east of the Rockies. The value of this unusually fine quality of the unusually large shipment of oranges is nearly $500,000.

The last shipment of oranges will reach Victoria December 12 aboard the C.P.R. liner Empress of Japan.

LOCAL WHALER IS PURCHASED FOR FIREBOAT

Orion Now in Vancouver and Will Probably Be Converted Into Burrard Inlet Patrol

It was reported in shipping circles here this morning that the local whaling steamer Orion, which for many months was tied up alongside the old Hudson Bay wharf at the foot of Fort Street, has been purchased by the Vancouver Harbor Board and will be converted into a fireboat for Burrard Inlet as soon as the City Council of Vancouver gives its decision regarding the amount of money it will spend as its share for this protection.

Local shipping circles wondered greatly last week when the Orion was suddenly taken from her berth, brought to the Victoria Machinery Depot, given a thorough overhaul and then left silently and quickly in the dead of night for Vancouver.

The old whaler is reported to have been purchased from the Orion Fishing and Packing Company at a very low figure, and it is estimated that it will require $125,000 to convert the vessel into a fireboat for Vancouver. It is stated that when the ship is ready for use in Burrard Inlet she will be at least fifty per cent more efficient in operation than the Paine Creek fireboat. Additional fireboats in Burrard Inlet will follow the Orion, it has been stated in Vancouver.

According to Lloyd's Register, the Orion is a one-deck whaler, built in Oslo in 1904. She is forty tons register, with a length of ninety-four feet, a beam of seventeen feet and a depth of ten feet. She is registered as a cargo-homeship. It is probable that she will be equipped with fire-fighting apparatus salvaged from the Harbor Board tug St. Catherine, which was recently sold to the Canadian National Railway.

Freighters To Come Here Soon To Take Lumber

Titianian and Fernmoor Now Loading at Up-Island Ports; Port Alberni Busy

Although no lumber or freight ship is yet listed to definitely call here over the week-end, local shipping agents expect that one or two will be along. The freighter Titianian, now loading lumber at Chemainus, is due to load a cargo of timber here and will probably call on Saturday or Sunday. The freighter Fernmoor is also due shortly, as is the Cape of Good Hope.

Port Alberni has been busy this week with several freighters loading lumber there for world ports. On Tuesday the City of Victoria sailed for the Orient after lifting 500,000 feet at the Up-Island point. The motorship Bronzino is now at Port Alberni loading lumber for the Atlantic Coast, and the British steamer Fernmoor is due shortly to load timber for the United Kingdom. H. A. Barnett, local insurance surveyor, is now at Port Alberni looking after these ships.

Two British freighters of the Reed-Smith Line are posted to go to Seattle in December, to load for the United Kingdom. They are the Skene and the Victoria City. Both ships will also load in Vancouver while on the Coast, but it is doubtful if they will call here.

Ruth Alexander Is Due This Evening From California

Making good time on her voyage up the coast, the Pacific Steamship Company's liner Ruth Alexander will dock at the Rithet piers this evening at 9:30 o'clock from San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Capt. Frank Landstrom, master of the ship, this morning advised W. M. Allan, local agent, by wireless.

For Victoria the Ruth has seventy tons of general cargo and thirty passengers, most of whom will proceed to Vancouver aboard the midnight steamer. The Ruth will leave for Seattle about midnight, and will dock in the Sound city at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The liner Dorothy Alexander of the same fleet was here for two hours yesterday evening on her way from Seattle to California ports. She cleared the Rithet piers at midnight with a fair list of passengers.

line has been switched into operation on West Vancouver ferry schedules between West Vancouver and the North Vancouver ferry slip.

Officials of the West Vancouver Ferries Limited say No. 5 ferry will leave the ways to-day and will go back on the run immediately. No. 6 ferry which struck the tug Caprine yesterday, suffered considerable damage to her guards.

No one was injured in yesterday's mishap. Both the ferry and the tug came to Vancouver under their own power.

Empress of Canada Here To-day Bound Across the Pacific

Has Fair List of Passengers; Empress of Russia, Due on Saturday, Has Few Aboard

Outbound to the Hawaiian Islands, Japan, China and the Philippine Islands, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada is expected to berth at the Rithet piers shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon. She will remain about an hour to pick up local passengers, light cargo and mails before putting to sea en route to Honolulu.

With Capt. A. J. Halley, R.N.R., on the bridge, the Empress of Canada sailed from Vancouver at 11 o'clock this morning. When she sails late this afternoon from Victoria there will be about 900 passengers aboard. Of these ninety will be in the first cabin, 110 in the second, 100 in the third and 400 in the stateroom. Many of the first and second class passengers will leave the ship at Honolulu to spend a winter vacation in the Hawaiian Islands. The stateroom passengers are mostly Chinese en route to the New Year holidays with their people in the Celestial Empire.

The liner Empress of Russia, due here from the Orient on Saturday, has one of the smallest passenger lists of the year. There are only thirteen passengers in the first cabin, twenty-two in second, thirty-three in third and 129 in stateroom.

TAKING A BUILDING FOR A WALK

Solid and substantial as the ten-story general office building of the Indiana Bell Telephone Company at Indianapolis is, engineers did not hesitate to pick it up and move it bodily to a new site when the old location was wanted for a new building. The building is being moved about in a "lift face" with the corner acting as the pivot while the right corner moves away from the camera. The building travels at a speed of one and one-half feet daily.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Wheat: The wheat market was decidedly weak to-day, and after opening about one cent lower, declined another cent, from which point there was a recovery of about a half cent, but this small upturn was not held, the market again selling off to make new lows for the day. The recovery was due to short covering or buying against the daily liquidation of one or two of the chief holders of this future.

The market acted nervous at times on the breaks, but there was no real support beyond the local short covering, and export sales over night and again this morning were very disappointing. Early estimates of export sales were placed around 400,000, but most of this business proved later to be only a changing of hands of stocks held in Montreal.

The American markets were all close to-day, and there was very little going on between the two markets in the way of spreading.

Broomhall was out with an estimate of the Argentine crop, and he placed the surplus of wheat in that country at around 205,000,000 bushels. There was fairly good demand for cash wheat, but it was mostly for rough grades from American mills. There was a little demand for other grades from shippers in the way of filling tonnage, but this was quite small, and while offerings were not pressing, spreads were all about unchanged.

WHITNEY
LETTER

(By Logan & Bryan)

New York, Nov. 27.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Bureau says today:

"While the point decline in the averages with which Wednesday's session closed was hardly any worse than the closing of the previous session it presents a good deal more of a mirage in any market, program carrying the going to be able to keep going on the upside. The whole development of the session simply points to the exhaustion of the rally at a level half a dozen points short of where I expect it to go and shows that the possibilities of further advance have been rather definitely taken out of the market."

"What a few last stand attempts will not doubt be made to-morrow by various pools operating in stocks. I think we are nevertheless going to see a bad week-end before the market is brought down to a good example of it to go and shows that the possibilities of further advance have been rather definitely taken out of the market."

"Trade justification for lower prices appears to be found in the inability of industry to make a stand at present or rather to have a good example of it to go and shows that the possibilities of further advance have been rather definitely taken out of the market."

"Rail earnings are likewise providing poor reading and are a poor example of it to go and shows that the possibilities of further advance have been rather definitely taken out of the market."

"The purpose of our tour was to observe and learn methods of railway construction and operation on this continent," Mr. Liu said.

CHINA RAILWAY
EXPERT SAILS
FROM VICTORIA

Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Realizing the country cannot be united politically until united geographically, China's Nationalist Government at Nanking is determined to undertake a vigorous programme of railway construction and improvement. It was stated here today by S. C. Liu, counselor to the Ministry of Railways of China, who sailed aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada after a tour of the United States and Canada. He is accompanied by J. Lockhart, general manager of the Pekin-Mukden Railway and adviser to the Chinese Railway Ministry.

"The purpose of our tour was to observe and learn methods of railway construction and operation on this continent," Mr. Liu said.

Test Vote Soon In British Commons

London, Nov. 27.—A motion which would censure the MacDonald Government for its alleged failure to formulate an effective Empire trade proposals was laid before the Commons this evening by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin. The Conservative Party leader supported his motion with a strong attack on the Government's attitude at the conference. His motion was couched in a severe tone which does not usually accompany motions hostile to the Government.

Shrinkage in Brokers'
Loans Shows Public
Out of Market

New York, Nov. 27.—The Street is well aware that it cannot have a bull market without public participation on a large scale. Thus far this sort of buying has not developed. Better than this, the present one have failed utterly to attract a following. Hence it is not amiss to predict that so far as the outside public is concerned the matter will have to run along at 2,000,000-share pace. Investment buying and professional support are not enough to make a bull market.

Shrinkage in a billion dollars in brokerage loans in recent weeks gives an idea of the extent the public is drawing away from the market instead of toward it. Stocks have been passing from weak to strong hands to be sure, but it is the so-called weak hands which make market. The Street is not entirely pleased with the loan shrinkage. It would welcome a substantial rise at this time, which would indicate return of the little fellows. But from indications they are not to have this welcome news.

SHORT COVERING
There has been considerable short covering in the market in the recent rise. This obscures the buying and makes guesses on the loan total difficult. When a person sells short, he must lend the man from whom he borrows stock to sell an amount equivalent to the market value of the stock. Obviously he does not do this himself. He puts up the ordinary margin, say about 25 per cent of the value of the stock and the broker makes the loan for him. If a man sold 100 shares of stock selling at $100 a share short, the deal would involve $10,000. The short seller would put up $2,500 with the broker. The lender would give up his stock and receive $10,000. The person who bought the stock would margin it and put up $2,500. Thus far the brokerage loan total would be swelled by $5,000, the difference between $10,000 and the two margins of $2,500 each. What the lender would do with his $10,000 is a puzzle. If he margined $40,000 worth of stock with it, the loan total would be advanced $35,000. The covering operation would unwind all this tape and release all loans. Hence, this week, despite rising prices, there is a prospect of a loan reduction.

SALES TAX
New York State is talking sales tax to offset the huge levy on real estate. The only ones favoring the proposal thus far are real estate men. Business men have come unanimously against the plan, arguing that it would be disastrous to business at this time that it would reduce employment and divert sales from this to other states and to mail order houses. New York State has a tremendous income from taxes now. Its income tax is far higher than that of the Federal Government; it levied a gasoline tax this year; its community tax rates are very high. It has not followed the lead of the Federal Government in reducing debts and, as the purchasing power of the dollar is high, it is experiencing difficulty in making adjustments.

Motors and Water Lines Are Likely to Be Put Under Interstate Commerce Commission

Sears Roebuck-Monty Ward Mail Order Store Merger Now Reported Very Near

Chrysler Stronger as Result of Sponsoring of Stock By Banking Group

(By Logan & Bryan)
New York, Nov. 27.—All United States markets were closed today for the annual Thanksgiving holiday.

Although the period has been interesting with periods of reaction, the market on the whole, so far this week has maintained an upward trend. This took place in the face of unfavorable developments such as poor earnings reported by corporations and the lack of clear cut improvement in business conditions.

A striking feature has been the strength in the rail issues, reflecting probably the announced intention of railroad executives to have water and motor bus lines put under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, along with the other types of rolling stock, particularly box cars.

A striking feature has been the strength in the rail issues, reflecting probably the announced intention of railroad executives to have water and motor bus lines put under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, along with the other types of rolling stock, particularly box cars.

Greater activity of some of the motor plants has stirred some interest in the auto shares, bringing some of the low priced issues into greater favor. For instance, Chrysler, after selling some time in the neighborhood of 14, adjusted rather quickly to about 19. It is said that the issue is being supported by a group that have confidence regarding the company's ultimate possibilities.

Many individual issues have been in good demand, following a report by the Federal Reserve that department stores sales during October and forepart of November had shown a marked increase of $32,000,000 over last year's having an effect in rental lines.

The chairman of Monty Ward was quoted as saying that his company had begun to receive a changed attitude in buyers from the apathy that has prevailed in the recent past. It seems to be generally conceded that the market is at a deflated level with buying power ready to come in on all occasions when satisfactory yields are available.

When asked today regarding rumors that negotiations looking toward a merger had been resumed between certain stockholding interests of Sears Roebuck and Monty Ward, Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the board of the former company, disclaimed knowledge of any such negotiations.

Meanwhile, rumors more pronounced that there had been meetings of stockholders interests looking toward either a merger or toward a close affiliation. Resumption of these overtures was reported on November 18 and at that time, the reports were denied by H. H. Strawn, chairman of the board of Monty Ward directors.

The Chicago Herald-Examiner to-day says:

"Negotiations for the merger of Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward, the nation's two leading mail order houses with a combined volume of business of nearly seven hundred and fifty million dollars annually, have reached a point where it is more than likely will be successful. Talk of consolidating these two organizations started several years ago. Rumors that they were put together have cropped up periodically since, but various obstacles have arisen. To-day, however, the report has an exceptionally sound basis that

B.C. Appeal Court Makes No Decision Till Canadian Supreme Court Speaks

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Nov. 27.—Pending investigation by the Supreme Court of Canada of the validity of B.C. Produce Marketing Act, on which a judgment is expected at Ottawa shortly, the B.C. Court of Appeal has refused to hear an appeal which involved the constitutionality of the statute.

On instructions from Attorney-General R. H. Pooley, A. J. Cowan yesterday opened an appeal from a judgment of Mr. Justice Gregory. The latter, on the application of Harry Fong, Keefe Street, Vancouver, granted a writ of prohibition against Magistrate C. L. Milne to enjoin him from proceeding with a summons which charged the Chinese, with an infraction of the Produce Marketing Act. The judge ruled the magistrate's jurisdiction did not include the City of Vancouver, where the alleged offence had occurred.

AT NEXT SITTING
H. S. Wood, K.C., counsel with H. R. Bray for the respondent, Harry Fong, asked the court to hear the appeal for the reason, as he said, that there were a number of other cases which depended on the decision.

The court announced, however, that the question raised by Mr. Wood was academic, while the main point concerning whether or not the act was ultra vires remained undecided.

Mr. Cowan was therefore given leave to withdraw his appeal and give notice for the next court session either in Victoria or in Vancouver.

Is It a Husband's Duty to Support His Wife's Family?—Why Real Love Ends in Marriage—Setting the Children an Example

DEAR MISS DIX—My wife is much aggrieved because I will not promise to leave ALL of my estate to her relatives in case I should survive her. She did bring one dollar to me and has never earned any money since we married. She has kept my home and managed well and I appreciate that, but should all the money I have earned go to her relatives when I die? My brother, who is also childless, confronts the same problem. He is married to a woman who has never contributed anything to their wealth, yet she insists that her husband should will all of his property to her family and give none to his own.

My wife has an imbecile brother who has to be supported. I have to do it because the wives of her three other brothers will not permit them to contribute to the support of their families, but the wives give money continually to their own families.

Why is it that all women seem to think that everything their husbands make belongs to their own families and nothing should go to their husbands' families?

Answer: In spite of your experience, Mr. H. L. V., not ALL women feel that their husbands exist for the support of their families. There are some women who have a sense of justice, and who realize that a man has some right to the money he earns, and that his own people have as much claim upon his pocketbook as hers have.

But I must confess that these broad-minded ladies do not grow on every bush, and that most wives do consider that their husbands were created by an all-wise Providence to supply the needs of their kith and kin. And so do their families. As soon as the first daughter marries and sets up a home of her own, mother begins unloading the younger children on her husband. Without so much as by your leave she sends Mary to stay with her while she goes to school, and Johnny to live with her while he is getting started in a job, and they take it as no more than their right that daughter's husband should have to feed and house two or three more than he counted on.

It's to laugh when you hear a fatuous youth say that he is marrying Sally, he isn't marrying her family, because he hasn't been married two months before he discovers that he has espoused not only Sally, but father and mother and sisters and brothers. Look about you and you will perceive that nine men out of ten are supporting their wives' fathers and mothers and not their own.

And when there is any question of borrowing money or of paying doctors' bills, or settling the grocery account, who do father and mother turn to but Sally, whose husband must supply the funds. They don't ask their unmarried children because they can't bear to think of poor dear Maud or Reginald having to deny themselves. They don't ask their married sons for help because, well, they know that their married sons' wives have gone through their husbands' pockets on their own behalf and wouldn't stand for their husbands giving to their own parents anyway, so they fall back on their married daughters, who are always to be depended upon.

Why this is thus, nobody can explain. It is just that way in life, and many a woman who marries her husband and who thinks she is a good wife and desires to be a good wife, inflicts a terrible injustice on him by literally selling him into slavery on their wedding day to her family.

I have in mind now the case of a friend of mine who was a fine man, a hard worker, a man who was successful in business and who earned much money, but who was never able to accumulate a cent because his wife gave everything he made to her people. She had an improvident father, who was always being paid out of debt, a mother who was a chronic invalid and who was always being sent to sanatoriums and having expensive operations. There were sisters and brothers who had to be educated and have good clothes and be set up in business and launched in society and given trousseaux and what-not. There were nieces and nephews who had to have their teeth straightened and their adenoids out. Always something that called for money, and my poor friend had to furnish it.

But it would have been a different story if it had been his people who had been a constant drain upon them. She could have seen easily enough why they should be made to stand on their own feet and go to free clinics when they were sick, and generally paddle their own canoes without burdening poor, dear Tom, who had enough to do to support his own family.

Probably if women argued out this question in their minds they would say that if they were not married and were earning salaries that they would give the money they made to their families, and that they have just as much right to give what they make as wives as they would if they were stenographers or teachers. But they forget that when a woman marries she takes on a higher obligation than that which she has to her family. Her first duty is to her husband, and she has no right to sacrifice him to her people.

Of course, the woman who is a good wife and manager does earn her share of the estate, but she doesn't earn it all, and this matter has been officially settled in the States that have the community law. That gives the wife half of the property which is earned after the couple are married and she can dispose of that by law when she dies. But that is all she is entitled to. And she is grasping and greedy if she tries to give her husband's property, too, to her family.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—How far can a young man in his early twenties fall in love without thinking of marriage? Can real love exist without marriage as an ultimate purpose? Do you not think that there is a stage that all young people must go through during which they want loving and not real love?

Answer: Assuredly. All young people are in love with love and they want to play the love game. It is as natural an impulse as it is for a puppy to chase every moving thing in sight, or for a colt to race around a pasture and kick up his heels, or for a butterfly to flit from flower to flower.

The sex attraction is never stronger than it is in adolescence. Boys and girls are just naturally drawn to each other. They are dobbing over with romance and sentiment. Their hands cling together and their lips meet and they are intoxicated with their own emotions.

It is an experience of youth that is as common as having the measles, and it passes as quickly, and generally as harmlessly. For the few who soon dies down and they are over it and have forgotten it. For the few who are fatal is when the boy and girl mistake this near-love for the real thing and get married. Then when their high temperature goes down to normal and they recover from their childish malady they discover that they have misdiagnosed their symptoms wrong and that it wasn't love after all.

Certainly most young people enjoy flirtation, which is an entertaining and thrilling game of make-believe and which has no ulterior thought of marriage, but real love has in it a sense of permanency, a desire to have one's own the one whom one loves, and this can only be achieved by marriage.

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think that a father and mother owe it to their children to set them the kind of example in life which they wish them to follow?

Without doubt. It is folly for parents to preach a doctrine that they do not practice. No man can teach his sons to be honest if he is a thief, and no mother can inspire her daughters to be pure in virtue unless she is pure herself.

BOY PARLIAMENT OPENING SET

Scouts Make Appeal For Playthings

In connection with the Tuxis Older Boys' Parliament, which will be held December 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30, this year, a grand rally and convocation of Tuxis and Trail Ranger members of the city will be held in the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Frank Fidler, boys' work secretary of the province, will be in the city and will speak. The meeting will also be addressed by the various candidates for election. The nominees, of whom four will be chosen to represent Victoria constituency, are: Frank Holdridge, Charles McCloud, Douglas Nixon and Robert Trowdale, all of Victoria; Edward Parsons, Ganges Harbor.

In their attempt to provide Christmas toys for the poorer children of the city, the Boy Scouts have issued their annual appeal to citizens, merchants, and boys and girls to set aside any playthings which they can afford to for the less fortunate youngsters of Victoria. Dolls and other small toys are requested by the Scouts to fill out the Christmas boxes they have planned. Any person having toys, which they think might be enjoyed by the children of people in straitened financial circumstances, are requested to contribute them to the Scouts what they have, to give away. A member of the organization will call for anything that is donated.

lives at the corner of Johnson and Store Streets, Victoria. "I'd been a victim of chronic dyspepsia and constipation almost all my life. Gas would form on my stomach after every meal and at night, the pressure around my heart made me wakeful and nervous. I had cramps in my legs, and finally neuritis settled in my shoulders and arms. My skin was tight yellow. I had dizzy spells and felt weak and irritable.

"I wouldn't have believed, at my age, that any medicine could do as much as Sargon has for me. Every trace of sour stomach, indigestion and bloating disappeared; my appetite is good, and my food digests perfectly. And I'm rid of neuritis and cramps in my muscles. I sleep fine, my color is good, and I've gained nine pounds.

"I took the Sargon Pills and I've never used such a comfortable and natural laxative. I don't have those dizzy spells any more and my whole system is in vigorous, healthy condition.

"I've got the president of our company taking Sargon now and I go out of my way to tell others about this remarkable treatment."

WILL REVIVE HIGH SCHOOL FOR SAANICH

School Board Will Prepare
New Building By-law
December 4

Construction Would Provide Needed Work; Site Proves Factor

Construction of a high school by Saanich, as soon as possible, was unanimously supported yesterday evening by the Saanich School Board, which decided to hold a special meeting on Thursday, December 4, for preparation of the necessary by-law.

Trustee W. Tones introduced the matter, declaring action to be long overdue. "There is very little time remaining, only a few weeks. We want the question to go to the people in a plain and straight forward manner."

Trustee D. Fyvie commented, "I do not care where the high school may be located so long as we get it." He was cordially supported by Trustee F. V. Hobbs, who declared, "between 1920 and 1930 we paid Victoria $175,000 for high school services and have not got a brick to show for it."

Trustee Tones urged the question of a site be submitted to the voters by way of referendum, believing any other course would be a breach of pledges given. Chairman J. L. Brooks pointed out that the pledge of a referendum was made last year and need not necessarily govern the present situation. The board was reminded that the issue of selecting a site was placed upon the School Board under the terms of the Schools Act.

Discussing the probability of strong support being accorded the proposed by-law, the trustees were informed that a hollow tile school of fourteen rooms had recently been completed at New Westminster at a cost of $85,000. Saanich would not require quite as large a building and a substantial contribution to the cost could be expected from the Department of Education.

Trustees commented that Saanich had 250 men needing work and applying for unemployment relief jobs, and that construction of the long overdue high school would be a most valuable contribution towards relief of unemployment.

It being commented that unemployed skilled crafts men were not numerous in Saanich, it was remarked that erection of a high school would involve use of much unskilled labor.

Prosperity of France

From The Manitoba Free Press

In proof of their contention that high tariff and prosperity go hand in hand, Mr. Bennett and other Conservative leaders frequently cite the example of France. The Republic, they contend, has no unemployment problem; no idle industrial plants; no smokeless chimneys.

However, save on wheat, France does not impose a high tariff. The French tariff, as a whole, is very little higher than the old Canadian tariff. It is true that there are very few unemployed in France; that trade, by and large, is more flourishing than in many other parts of the civilized world.

Why France is prosperous was explained by Ambassador Claude in an interview published recently in the Credit Monthly of the United States. This is the explanation of the French ambassador to the United States:

"The reason for lack of unemployment in France is a grim one. Over 1,400,000 of our young men and women were killed in the war, and several hundred thousand maimed and crippled are supported by the nation. France's rise to its present sound economic status has been over mountainous obstacles. The richest parts of France were devastated by the war and have gone through a complete rebuilding and reconstruction. The franc has been stabilized at about one-fifth of its value, and all creditors of the state have lost 80 per cent of what they owned. So you see, whatever degree of prosperity France has attained has been through struggle, suffering, and deprivation."

"Our credit has been strengthened because France has settled her external debts by obligating herself to reimburse to her creditors 50 per cent of her debts, while French creditors themselves receive only 20 per cent. Taxes have also been levied on the French people that constitute a real burden. The fiscal charge, for example, amounted to 13.7 per cent of the national revenue in 1913, and today it has increased to 35 per cent, which increase is greater than that of any other country. Figures will show that the French taxpayer is taxed three times more than the American citizen is taxed."

The way to prosperity as they have it in France is thus indicated. Kill off half the young men in a war; and inflate the currency to a point where debts, national and individual, can be settled at 20 cents on the dollar. The remedy for unemployment seems worse than the malady.

It also presents a graphic picture of three steps in the evolution of the lighter-than-air ship—the free balloon (at the left), the small non-rigid ship, and (in the background) the duralumin framework of the giant naval airship Akron, which will be the largest dirigible in the world when completed.
